Show your face, catch your flight

DigiYatra facial recognition system launched at Delhi, B'luru, Varanasi as part of Phase 1

AMIT MUKHERJEE @ New Delhi

REMEMBER Ethan Hunt in the Mission Impossible series? He simply shows his face to get access to his high security office. You could soon have a similar feeling in select airports in India for your domestic flight.

From now, three airports in the country will offer the Digi Yatra service that allows domestic fliers enter the departure zones by just looking into a lens. "A static stare into a digitally wired lens is required to pass the security check," a ministry official said. The service was launched by Civil Aviation Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia, at Delhi's Indira Gandhi International Airport Terminal 3 on Thursday.

Digi Yatra is an app-based service that has been designed to achieve contactless, seamless processing of passengers at airports, based on facial recognition technology (FRT).

The system allows travellers to pass through various checkpoints via a paperless and contactless process using facial features, captured in the form of digital contours and structure, to establish the identity, which is linked to the boarding pass. To use this facility, a one-time registration on the Digi Yatra app is required, using Aadhaar-based validation and a self-image capture.

The data, Scindia said, is saved in an encrypted format at the airport using blockchain technology. Information sourced from passengers' phones and stored the airport will be purged 24 hours after the journey, he added.

Allaying data security concerns, the ministry said, "There is no central storage of Personally Identifiable Information. Passenger's ID and travel credentials are stored in a secure wallet in the passenger's smartphone itself."

The service is at present being rolled out for domestic flights. In the first phase, it will be launched at seven airports, including the three where it began in Thursday — Delhi, Bengaluru and Varanasi. The other four are Hyderabad, Kolkata, Pune and Vijayawada where the launch is expected by March next year.

HOW TO GO ABOUT IT

- Download Digi Yatra and Digi Locker Apps from Playstore
- Register on Digi Yatra App using phone number and OTP
- Link passenger Aadhaar using Digi locker
- Take selfie for validation

Before every flight

- Scan boarding pass (pre-requisite for check-in)
- Share boarding pass data with the boarding airport

FRT at Dubai Airport saves 40% of passenger time up; and 9 mins per aircraft time at Atlanta Airport

FRT pilot project launched at IGI Airport in August. Many passengers already registered with Digi Yatra ever since

Student waving Kannada flag in Belagavi assaulted by peers, cops

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Belagavi

THE ongoing controversy between Karnataka and Maharashtra in the border areas took a violent turn when a student was attacked by a group of students when he was waving a Kannada flag while dancing after the valedictory function of an inter-school cultural fest held at KLS Gogte PU College in Belagavi on Wednesday evening. The victim and some activists said the student was also manhandled by police officials. This is the first instance of physical assault taking place since the escalation of tension between the two neighbouring states from the past few weeks.

The Belagavi city police who rushed to the the spot allegedly manhandled and used derogatory language against the student for waving the flag. Activists of various Kannada organisations expressed their anger against the police and staged a protest on the premises of the college on Thursday morning.

Kannada activists block the Belagavi-Goa highway near RPD circle on Thursday

The victim, who has been admitted to a civil hospital, alleged that the police officers from Tilakwadi police station and Deputy Commissioner of Police (L&O) Ravindra Gadadi manhandled and insulted him using filthy language.

Kannada activist Sampat Kumar Desai said, "The student was scared after returning from the police station. I admitted him to a hospital for treatment. Is it wrong to fly the Kannada flag in Belagavi? How can the police manhandle him? I urge the government to take action against the police officers."

DCP (L&O) Ravindra Gadadi said that all the students who created a ruckus in the college are Kannadigas. "As all the students are minors, we have given them a warning. There is no need to pay heed to rumours in this matter," he said. P4

Livestreaming Korean YouTuber molested, 2 held

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mumbai

THE Mumbai Police on Thursday arrested two men for allegedly molesting a South Korean woman YouTuber while she was live-streaming from Khar area of Mumbai. Police swung into action after a Twitter user shared the video of the disturbing incident. The two accused, Mobeen Shaikh (19) and Naqeeb Ansari (21), were produced before a court, which sent them to one-day police custody.

The video shows a man trying to forcefully kiss the woman, who protests and walks away. Later, the man along with his friend on a bike can be seen approaching her again.

The Twitter user who shared the video tweeted, "A streamer from Korea was harassed by these boys while she was live-streaming in front of a 1000+ people. This is disgusting and some action needs to be taken against them."

Responding to the tweet, the YouTuber said, "Last night on stream, there was a guy who harassed me. I tried my best not to escalate the situation and leave because he was with his friend. And some people said that it was initiated by me being too friendly and engaging the conversation. Makes me think again about streaming."

No proposal to open schools, colleges exclusively for Muslims, says CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru/Shivamogga

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Thursday outright denied that there was any proposal to establish 10 new schools and colleges exclusively for Muslim girls.

A controversy had erupted on Wednesday after several Hindu organisations warned of staging protests against the proposal, but Bommai has denied saying that there was neither such proposal nor had they discussed it at any level in the state government.

Speaking to reporters in Bengaluru, Bommai said it was Wakf Board chairman Shafi Saadi's opinion rather than a proposal. "This is not our stand. He (Saadi) should have discussed it with the state government before making such statements."

Later in the day, the CM told reporters in Shivamogga that reports about such a proposal are not true and even the Education Minister had clarified it. The attendance of Muslim students in colleges is quite good. "After the hijab issue, no Muslim students were deprived from getting education," he said.

School Education and Literacy Minister B C Nagesh, speaking to reporters, also reiterated that there was no such proposal from the Wakf Board.

"There is no proposal to establish separate Muslim colleges or schools. The Education Department has not made any kind of decision in this matter," he said.

Leopard kills woman in backyard of her house

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

CLOSE on the heels of a 20-year-old student being killed by a leopard in the rural hinterland of T Narasipur in Mysuru district, another 23-year-old student was attacked and killed by a leopard in the backyard of her house on Thursday evening.

The deceased is Meghana, a resident of S Kebbehundi village in T Narasipur taluk. The girl, who was seriously injured in the attack, died at a government hospital in T Narasipur.

As the news spread like wildfire, angry villagers from across the taluk gathered in front of the Taluk General Hospital where they raised slogans against the forest department officials for failing to catch the leopard.

Though foresters have increased surveillance, they are not able to track the movements of the leopard.

Several villagers of Kebbehundi and neighbouring villages who spotted the leopard a week ago had alerted the forest department.

"If they had paid heed to our warning, the young woman could have been saved. We urge the authorities to provide compensation to the kin of the deceased," said Ramesh, a villager.

G20 presidency begins, to be consultative & decisive

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

INDIA on Thursday assumed the G20 presidency, with External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar saying "it will be consultative, it will be collaborative and it will be decisive."

At a G20 University Connect event that drew students of 75 universities in an interactive session, he said, "Our G20 Presidency is taking place at a very critical moment in international affairs. It is particularly vital that the world leaders focus on the right issues, especially those that effect the more vulnerable sections of the world."

As many as 100 monuments, including UNESCO world heritage sites, were lit up with the G20 logo to mark the start of India's year-long presidency.

The White House said the US is looking forward to supporting India's G20 presidency on a range of issues, including addressing the current food and energy security challenges.

Jaishankar said G20 is not just the collective weight of the participants. "The world will get to know India better and our citizens will develop a sharper appreciation of it," he added. The minister highlighted eight points saying India's example is of increasing relevance to others. They include the country's experience in last-mile delivery using digital platforms, its way of responding to the Covid and indeed the transformation in clean energy, he added.

Right through the year, India intends to host over 200 meetings in 50-plus cities across 32 different workstreams that would give G20 delegates and guests a glimpse of India's rich cultural heritage.

MYSURU SEWAGE FARM HOME TO AT LEAST 10 CROCS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

SPOTTING a crocodile in the 'City of Palaces', especially in the vicinity of the sewage farm in Mysuru south has become a common sight for the residents here. In a span of 10 days, at least two crocodiles were spotted and one injured crocodile was rescued from the sewage farm which houses the solid waste management and sewage water treatment plant.

Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Commissioner Lakshmikanth Reddy revealed that he has information that there are at least 10 crocodiles in and around the sewage farm and expressed shock over how they have adapted to life in the sewage water.

While the corporation has taken assistance of the forest department to ensure they are captured, the staff are clueless as they are unable to find them in the STP and the pile up of over 6.5 lakh tonne waste.

A retired forest official said, in 2015, a carcass of a crocodile was found and it was believed that it could have come from the nearby Gopura Park or from the nearby lakes.

It is also suspected that as there was fish-rearing happening at the place some years ago, the crocs might have been inhabiting the place since then.

Meanwhile, the 6.5 lakh tonne waste at the sewage farm which has piled up for decades is all set to be cleared as the long-pending project has got the nod from the state cabinet. The work order is likely to be issued in a month's time.

Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha said that once the work order is released, it will be completed within 18 months at an estimated cost of Rs 57 crore as per a revised project report.

After building poor road, contractor bags plum project worth ₹99K cr

During Modi's visit in June, freshly-laid tar started peeling off, and Ramesh paid penalty

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

WHILE the dust is yet to settle on the shoddy road work done during Prime Minister Narendra Modi's June visit to Bengaluru, the contractor in question, Ramesh S, has been given a plum contract worth several crores of rupees.

It may be recalled that the peeling road tar had left BBMP red-faced. Ramesh, who was fined ₹3 lakh for shoddy work in Kengeri and Kommaghatta, is executing BDA's Visvesvaraya Layout's development work worth several crores.

According to RTI activist Sudarshan S, and general secretary, Nagarikara Kshemabivridhi Sangha, the very same contractor Ramesh is executing works at (BDA) at Visvesvaraya Layout Block 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 7.

"After the shoddy work in Komaghatta and paying a penalty for causing damage to the Palike's reputation, the contractor is developing drains and culverts, improving footpaths and other works from Block 1 to 9. However, he is yet to start work on Block 6, 8 and 9. Doubting their integrity, I filed an RTI query, seeking details of projects in August, but officials declined to give information, so in September, I went to 'first appeal'. It appears to be a scam here as well," alleged Sudarshan.

Work under way on a road at Vishweshwaraiah Layout in Kengeri by Bangalore Development Authority | EXPRESS

He alleged that work is being executed under different packages, and is worth ₹99 crore, and that he wanted to approach the Lokayukta with the RTI replies. "The officials are worried about getting exposed, and hence, delayed information and forced me to go for first appeal. If the information is not given in 30 days, it indicates the works are shoddy and bills are fudged," said Sudarshan.

BDA engineer member HD Shantharajanna confirmed about the same contractor is executing work for BDA. "The contrator is indeed executing works, and our officials have not come across any shoddy work so far. The works started in August and our engineers are monitoring it. The layout need basic infrastructure. Once we develop, we will hand over jurisdiction to BBMP," said Shantharajanna.

Meanwhile, BBMP engineer-in-chief BS Prahalad said the contractor was fined for the shoddy work and he only had to fix it. He added rain delayed work and is now taken care of. "He was not blacklisted but only asked to pay fine," he said.

RTI activist seeks third party audit of road work bills

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

AN RTI activist, who had filed an application seeking information on works related to Kommaghatta in Kengeri ahead of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit to Bengaluru, was allegedly denied feedback, and he raised objections to the files related to the bills for the work.

Soon after Modi's visit, the tar peeled off and a sinkhole appeared which resulted in two BBMP engineers facing suspension.

Speaking to TNIE, S Sudarshan, general secretary, KHB Nagarikara Kshemabivridhi Sangha, said, "The BBMP's Technical Vigilance Cell Under Commissioner was under scanner over giving clearance to Komaghatta work. I have raised objections and written to Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath and Finance Commissioner Jayaram Raipura against clearing the bills, and also sought a third party investigation, after which the bills should be settled as it is taxpayers' money."

Based on the CM's directions, the officials are getting ready to clear the files related to Rs 11.5 crore bill, he said, adding that he is still awaiting response to his RTI application.

"As per my information, the Assistant Engineer IK Vishwas, who was suspended and is now back in BBMP's RR Nagar Zone, is unwilling to sign on the measurement book of the Rs 11.5 crore work. Now, the contractors have been left high and dry, and are exerting pressure on the officials through their political contacts," alleged Sudarshan. Responding to the allegations, Girinath said, "The government has directed that only after proper scrutiny, the files will be moved. We will follow the rules in this matter and ensure transparency."

Land impasse of KR Puram Metro stn on ORR line ends

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

The breakthrough to get the land came last week, which will help in injecting some pace into works to complete KR Puram Metro Station on the ORR line | EXPRESS

THE KR Puram Metro station works on the Outer Ring Road (ORR) line of Namma Metro, which was going on sluggishly, will finally gather pace after the land measuring 3,251 sqm from the Railways is finally set to come through.

"The breakthrough was achieved last week. The road widening can happen with traffic diversion. The KR Puram station work, which going on slowly, will finally pick up pace," a senior Metro official told TNIE.

The ORR line (phase-2A) will connect this KR Puram station with Central Silk Board. A bridge will connect the upcoming station with the completed KR Puram station on the Baiyappanahalli-Whitefield line, where testing and commissioning of a partial stretch is at present under way. "BMRCL needs to widen the road along the Cable Stayed Bridge (it lies to its left when heading from Bengaluru towards Whitefield) to go on with the KR Puram station construction. The station, when readu, will impact traffic if the road is not widened before that," he said. The land was owned by the Railways with a part of it housing the Railway quarters too.

Bengaluru DRM Shyam Singh said, "We had given our in principle approval for it. However, the condition was they need to hand over an equal parcel of land in exchange whose posession can be taken immediately."

The exchange land, meanwhile, was stuck with BDA. Another official said, "The land had been notified for acquistion by BDA in 2006, but it was yet to take possession of it."

M S Channappa Goudar, general manager, Land Acquisition Cell, BMRCL, said, "BMRCL has now gone out of its way to acquire the land from BDA as it is a crucial for the public, and we want to avoid delay. We agreed to pay Rs6.32 crore to BDA that it had already deposited with the civil court to be paid for the landlosers. In addition, we have also offered to pay compensation to those who had put up illegal structures so that those can be dismantled before taking possession."

Seat row: Only 18 students hit, says KEA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

FOLLOWING reports that engineering seats were cancelled without notice to students who had got medical seats, the Karnataka Examinations Authority (KEA) has issued a clarification on Thursday.

On Tuesday, students had gathered outside the KEA office, alleging that their engineering seats had been cancelled without any prior notice, forcing them to choose medical seats that they had been assigned.

However, KEA stated that the students had been assigned seats in the first round of counselling and had failed to visit their respective colleges and pay their fees. As per regulations, the seats will be automatically eliminated, KEA said.

Meanwhile, responding to claims that the issue had affecting thousands of students, KEA Executive Director, Ramya S said the issue was limited to only 18 students. "After the second round, only 106 candidates have cancelled their medical seats, of which 18 wanted back the engineering seats they got in the first round," she said.

IMD FORECASTS LIGHT RAINFALL IN NEXT 48 HRS

IMD, Bengaluru, has forecast light rain in some parts of South Interior Karnataka in the next two days. According to IMD, a cyclonic circulation is likely over the south Andaman Sea around December 4, 2022. Under its influence, a low-pressure area is likely to be formed over the southeast Bay of Bengal and adjoining south Andaman Sea by December 5, which might move west-northwestwards, and develop into a depression over the southeast Bay of Bengal in the next 48 hours. Thereafter, it is likely to continue to move west-northwestwards and reach Tamil Nadu-Puducherry coasts by December 8. "Light rainfall is likely over isolated places of South Interior Karnataka in the next two days," the officials said.

After a year, no relief in sight for ITI ex-workers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

IT has been a year of unrelenting protest for 80 former workers of ITI Limited, who were terminated. To mark the anniversary of protest, several organisations joined the agitators, who have been sitting outside the ITI gates, to express their solidarity.

On December 1, 2021, the workers were stopped from entering the ITI compound. They were informed that their workers' contracts have terminated. The former workers had said that they had no prior intimation and were never under contract with the company.

No minimum notice was served, they had said, alleging that the company had taken the step after the workers had formed an union to demand the amount the company owed them. They had been deliberately targeted the workers using the contract as an instrument, they alleged.

"It has been a year of protest now, and the ITI management has failed to reinstate the workers. The tenure of the terminated workers varies between three and 35 years, who were involved in in essential work of the ITI. However, they were labelled as contract labourers and denied basic rights," the AICCTU said in a statement.

Despite multiple attempts to broker an agreement between ITI management and workers' union, it has failed.

Meanwhile, the union continues to put pressure on Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw, who had written a letter to ITI Limited in April this year to formulate a new contract for the workers.

PETER VIDAL

02nd December: Yesterday I spoke briefly about Jupiter in its fortunate guise. It's a planet which is still important, but today it's pushing us to the limit. Its continuing alignment with dreamy Neptune points to a day when people everywhere want more than is on offer. That means there won't be enough to go round, so I'd like to suggest that the people who do best will be those who stand back!

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)

You can now begin to feel more confident about laying yourself on the line and taking risks, both financial and emotional. If you have spotted a good investment, or want to tell someone how you feel about them, then the signs are all very helpful indeed.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)

Your chart retains its profoundly ambitious complexion, which means that this is a period to go for broke. You surely deserve to come in first in life's great competition, especially after all you've been through. But the most important result should be your rising self-esteem.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)

'Think big' seems to be the day's theme. It doesn't really matter whether your grandiose ambitions ever see the light of day, or if they're doomed to failure, just as long as you make the effort. What's really important at the moment is that you learn from your experience.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)

It's certainly a day for spending money, and for taking extremely wise, and possibly profitable, financial decisions. As it happens, there's nothing much to worry about, as the most reckless and foolhardy planetary patterns should pass you by unscathed. All you have to do is stay cool.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)

Meteorological metaphors make sense at the moment, in which case it looks as if you're in for your very own emotional hurricane. However, as always happens at such times, there's a cosmic task, and right now it is to see the world through a partner's eyes.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)

Happiness, it is said, comes from being totally involved in what you're doing. The whole point is to keep busy, otherwise you'll lose control at a vital moment. Do try to get away for a spot of quiet contemplation, remembering to make time for yourself as and when you want.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)

Today's stars are all about pleasure. I know that's a difficult concept for many people, but as a Libran you should set the example when it comes to a spot of harmless self-indulgence. You'll have a few personal choices to make later on, though.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)

The level of emotional intensity is likely to take a slight move upwards, but not to nearly the same degree as some weeks back. If you want to put your talents to good use, help a family member over a rough patch. And don't wait for them to ask.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)

Your next emotional cycle begins here and, if you know what's good for you, you'll seize every opportunity to enjoy yourself. If you want a justification, well, you need a pleasurable break as much as anyone. If interviews or serious discussions are underway at work, the signs are excellent.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)

When all is said and done you really do have a great deal to be proud of, and today looks like a moment for rewards. At the very least it is time you gave yourself a few treats. Try not to count the cost, at least not if it means you have to decline a grand opportunity.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)

Partners may be over-bearing. I know that. You know that. But do they know it? Frankly I doubt it, in which case your best plan might be to keep your feelings to yourself, ignore their self-opinionated ways and appreciate their generosity and good points.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)

Even when you're taking time off, you still need to keep active. The fact remains that the happiest Pisceans will be those with the most interesting pursuits. Partners are bound to be more favourably disposed and less liable to criticise you for no apparent reason.

Covid scare gone, crowds are back in govt hospitals

Admissions, OPD consultations shoot up as patients opt for good facilities at low cost

NAMRATA SINDWANI
@ Bengaluru

GOVERNMENT hospitals in Bengaluru are witnessing increased footfall in the post-Covid era. Doctors attribute it to improved healthcare facilities after Covid, at affordable costs.

The daily footfall in hospitals like KC General, Jayanagar General and Victoria Hospital increased to an average of 1,200 patients. The 2022 statistics from KC General Hospital showed rising figures -- from 1,399 admissions in April to 1,569 in July, to 1,877 admissions in September. Doctors said the next two months saw a slight slip due to the festive season, but was still above the overall count when compared to September.

The reason for increased footfall is improved facilities at government hospitals during the pandemic. At KC General, all beds have oxygen support, and the number of ICU beds has also increased, a doctor said. With rising inflation, people prefer quality healthcare at affordable costs, he added.

Officials at KC General Hospital explained that in the post-Covid era, hospitals started releasing Covid beds into normal wards. Dr Ramakrishna, medical superintendent, Jayanagar General Hospital, said footfall has increased as the number of Covid cases has dropped, and people are no longer apprehensive of infection. Hospitals are also admitting more people since there are few Covid cases now.

Dr Ramakrishna said currently, their average out-patient footfall is around 1,000 on normal days. He also attributed it to better quality healthcare, and more admissions for other ailments than just Covid.

A few doctors said that while the state of healthcare is better, government hospitals lag behind in terms of human resources. Nurses and other staff in a few hospitals complained of being overburdened post Covid, as the number of beds was more but employee strength was the same.

Voter data theft: 2 Chilume staffers in police custody

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FOLLOWING the arrests of two more accused -- Maruti Gowda and Abhishek – in connection with the alleged voter data theft on Wednesday, the Halasuru Gate police on Thursday produced five staffers of NGO Chilume before the trial court.

The Magistrate Court had remanded accused Dharmesh, Renuka Prasad and Anil Kumar to eight-day police custody which ended on Thursday. They were remanded in judicial custody.

Officers of Halasooru Gate police said that Gowda and Abhishek had allegedly helped the main accused Ravikumar in tampering voters' data and impersonating as booth level officers, who carried fake booth level committee cards.

The court then sent Gowda and Abhishek to six days of police custody.

As a result of the alleged scam, four BBMP Revenue officers VB Bheemashankar (Chickpet), Suhail Ahmed (Shivajinagar), K Chandrasekhar (Mahadevapura), and Mahesh (RR Nagar) were suspended.

They were later arrested by officers of the Halasuru Gate police for allegedly helping the NGO by providing fake ID cards.

The incident also led to suspension of S Rangappa, Special Commissioner, BBMP Administration, and K Srinivas, Bengaluru Urban DC by the Election Commission.

EC deadline for revising voters' list is Dec 24

The secretariat of the Election Commission of India has extended the last date for filing of claims and objections pertaining to Shivajinagar, Chickpet and Mahadevapura till December 24 in connection with the revision of electoral rolls. The Election Commission also told the state election commission to complete its door-to-door survey as per the set directions and protocols. The commission also directed the state poll panel to speed up the process as from November 9 to December 1, a mere 23 per cent has been completed for 28 assembly constituencies. The commission had held a meeting with the state poll panel and district election officers on Thursday to assess the issue.

Allot public properties only through auction: HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

OBSERVING that political interference of any kind will jeopardise public administration, the Karnataka High Court directed the state government to allot public properties only through public auction. It ordered the state government to stop allotting public properties as product of favouritism or political interference.

Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the order while allowing the petition filed by Chandra Suvarna from Udupi taluk questioning the allotment of 700 sqmt in the port of Malpe beach to Santhosh V Saliana of Udupi district, for the establishment of a cold storage unit for fish at the behest of two BJP MLAs -- Lalaji R Mendon of Kapu and K Raghupathi Bhat of Udupi constituencies.

"It needs no emphasis that the state is governed by 'rule of law' and not by 'rule of men'. A few men at the helm of affairs, or the powers that be, cannot be seen to act in a manner that will thwart the rule of law and generate a concept 'you show me the person; I will tell you the law'. This court will not permit the state government to act in a partisan manner in favour of any applicant," the court said.

The court noted that there were a number of public properties which can be leased out to entrepreneurs. "There should be uniformity while granting such lands. Such uniformity will come about only when there is transparency in procedure, which can come about only when the properties are put to public auction and every citizen is permitted to participate in the auction. This case will be the last straw of admonishing the state for bartering away public property at its whim and fancy. Any such iteration will, without doubt, be viewed seriously, as such actions cannot bear any sanction under any law. Rule of law is insurmountable," the court observed. The applications submitted by Suvarna and Saliana for the space at Fish Conservation Centre were rejected, saying that the land had to be allotted only by way of public action in 2021. Later, they approached the MLAs who recommended the Department of Animal Husbandry and Fisheries for allotment of land to Saliana on lease. The Joint Director issued an emergent communication to the department in September 2021 and the land was allotted.

More leopard spottings spark panic in Turahalli

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

A leopard which was sighted about two weeks ago around Turahalli state forest, near Somapura, has been seen again. That is not all, citizens inside Turahalli forest patch have also informed about spotting another leopard.

These sightings have caused panic among residents of South Bengaluru, who are demanding that the big cats be captured and sent to zoos or rescue centres. Forest officials have put up two cages in different locations with baits to catch the elusive leopards, since the last two weeks. The exercise, however, seems to have failed.

A senior forest official said: "If the leopards are roaming inside the forest patch, it is no problem. In fact, it is an indication that the animals and the habitat needs to be well-protected. Turahalli forest patch, which is the largest forest patch in an urban habitat, abuts Bannerghatta National Park and for a wild animal to walk 8-12 km, is normal. Citizens should in fact stay away from the patch and stop demanding that it be turned into urban spaces or tree parks."

While some say there are two leopards, forest officials suggest that there could be more. They also do not rule out the possibility of the presence of a female with cubs. The official added: "It's no news that the leopard population is increasing and forest and buffer zone spaces are reducing. It could be possible that the leopards are moving either to hunt stray dogs, or the female is looking for a safer place and food for her cubs. If the situation is well-managed and the area is left unhindered, the animals will return to the forest. We are also requesting the locals and the municipality to keep the area garbage- and stray dog-free."

Bengaluru Urban Deputy Conservator of Forests S S Ravishankar told TNIE that cages have been kept and camera traps are in place. The leopard has been sighted by locals on CCTV. He said locals have been told to be cautious, adding that leopards are elusive and have known to be in close proximity with human habitation.

4 HELD FOR HUNTING LEOPARD

16 held, Rs 64 L worth stolen valuables recovered

BENGALURU: The West Division police has recovered around Rs 64 lakh worth of stolen valuables by arresting 16 suspects pertaining to several cases. Of the 16 arrested, the Vijaynagar sub-division police have nabbed six suspects for having robbed two persons. The accused had robbed a lorry driver, as he rested in the vehicle after parking it on Magadi Road. A bill collector, who was returning to his office with the daily collection money, had been robbed in Kamakshipalya. The police have registered separate robbery cases and have arrested the accused, who are habitual offenders. The police recovered around 619 grams of gold jewellery, silver jewellery, 210 mobile phones, nine two-wheelers and other valuables. The Magadi Road police have arrested three habitual offenders and recovered gold worth around Rs 18.75 lakh from them. Two accused, who had stolen cash from a provision store after breaking open the shutters, have also been arrested.

RGUHS says no to new grading method, med students protest

DONNA EVA @ Bengaluru

STUDENTS who had retaken their MBBS examinations from batches 2019-20 and 2020-21 protested in front of the Rajiv Gandhi University of Health Sciences (RGUHS) on Thursday.

With RGUHS due to hold exams in January 2023, the students are in a dire situation, as they had been failed due to, what they allege, erratic valuation. "We had approached RGUHS as we found that correct answers had been marked zero or very low, and there were several instances with as many as 200-300 students affected," said a parent. In May 2022, RGUHS had adopted a new evaluation method. The old method had meant that papers were scored by two valuators and then the average was given as the final result. The new method means that the higher score given by the two valuators was taken as the final result. "Despite the students retaking their examinations in May, the university is refusing to use the new evaluation method to value their papers. Following a case, the High Court also ordered the university to take the higher score of the valuators as the final score," the parent said.

However, with the examinations fast-approaching, RGUHS has said that they will ask for an appeal in the case.

BJP raking up border row to hide its failures: DKS

KPCC chief Shivakumar says ruling party leaders politicising matter

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee has accused the BJP of making the border dispute with Maharashtra a big issue to divert attention from serious issues in the state.

Speaking to reporters here on Thursday, KPCC president DK Shivakumar said that the border dispute is a settled issue and the chief minister, ministers and ruling party leaders keep talking about it to cover up their failures.

There is an attempt to disturb peace in Karnataka during the Assembly elections, he said and added that it is not right for leaders from any party in Maharashtra to disturb peace by raking up the border issue. The Congress leader said BJP leaders are trying to politicise the matter. They should not try to politicise the border issue as there is no possibility of any changes in it, he said.

Villages that are in Karnataka will be part of the state and those in Maharashtra will be in that state, he said. Instead of making it a big issue big, people should be allowed to live peacefully, he said.

Shivakumar said the BJP leaders never speak about ideology, provide employment and help people, instead they always talk about emotional issues.

PRINCIPAL of Gogte PU College Dr A S Kerur said, "Disturbance was created during the valedictory function. We have taken precautionary measures to prevent the issue from snowballing into something major. The management of the college is verifying the matter and will take necessary action against those found guilty."

Various pro-Kannada organisations have demanded action against the attackers and the police officers. Some activists also blocked the Belgaum-Goa Highway to condemn the incident. They also burnt tyres at RPD circle in protest. The police then took some of the activists into custody and released them later.

Amid ongoing tension, 2 Maharashtra ministers to visit Belagavi on Dec 6

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @ Belagavi

WITH two Maharashtra ministers all set to visit Belagavi on December 6 to hold talks with pro-Maharashtra groups and attend several programmes, several Kannada organisations have urged the Karnataka government not to allow the duo, especially at a time when the border dispute between the two states has flared up again.

Maharashtra ministers Chandrakant Patil and Shambhuraj Desai are scheduled to attend a series of programmes in Belagavi on the invitation of Maharashtra Ekikaran Samiti (MES).

With the border dispute case between the two states set to come up for hearing in the Supreme Court, the Maharashtra government has been initiating several measures to bolster its stand in the apex court. As part of it, sources said, two of its ministers will be visiting Belagavi to meet pro-Maharashtra groups and leaders besides attending several other programmes. Though the duo were initially scheduled to visit Belagavi on December 3, Chandrakant Patil said the visit has been pushed to December 6. "On the occasion of Mahaparinirvana Divas to be observed on December 6, some organisations in Belagavi have invited me for their programmes in Belagavi. So, Instead of December 3, I will be visiting Belagavi along with Shambhuraj Desai on December 6," Patil tweeted.

Meanwhile, several Kannada organisations have warned the Karnataka government against allowing the two ministers into Belagavi to hold events at a time when the tensions are escalating on the border. Some Kannada leaders have threatened to enter the venues of the events if the ministers are allowed to enter Belagavi.

Chairman of the Action Committee of Kannada Organisations, Belagavi, Ashok Chandargi has questioned the need for the Karnataka government to allow the two ministers into the state at a time when the tensions are escalating on the border.

Police sources said that after the Maharashtra government sent an official note of the itinerary of the two ministers in Belagavi, the State Government has decided to extend Y security to both of them during their stay here.

NIA takes over M'luru cooker blast probe

ENS @ Mangaluru

THE Mangaluru City police interrogated Mohammed Shariq, the prime accused in the November 19 bomb blast in the coastal city, for several hours and gathered several crucial information about his activities, prior to handing over the case to the National Investigation Agency (NIA) on Thursday.

Mangaluru City Police Commissioner N Shashi Kumar told the media that the case was handed over to the NIA on Thursday morning.

"Prior to this, we received a nod from the doctors of Fr Muller's Hospital, who are treating Shariq, to interrogate him. We posed over 100 questions to him and he has answered them. Since he has over 40% burn injuries, doctors have suggested rest for the accused. We cannot force him now as burn injuries often lead to serious secondary infections," he said. He added that Purushottam Poojary, the autorickshaw driver who was also injured in the blast, is out of ventilator and has been shifted to a special ward where he will be monitored by doctors. However, the commissioner refused to divulge any details of the interrogation. The FIR registered by the NIA states that they recovered a 5-litre pressure cooker, 3 nine volt batteries, a damaged circuit and other material required to prepare an IED.

Meanwhile, VHP and Bajrang Dal have urged the president of Mangaluru Advocates Association not to appear for Shariq and his accomplices.

Renovation of 6,000 classrooms misses deadline

NAMRATA SINDWANI @ Bengaluru

THE renovation work for 6,000 classrooms in Karnataka that was expected to be completed by December end this year, started only in November. Officials from the Department of Public Instruction said the work is likely to take around 18 months to finish.

Responding to several complaints against the crumbling infrastructure in government schools, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai had approved Rs 1,000 crore for renovation of 6,000 classrooms in the state.

Dr Vishal R, commissioner, Department of Public Instruction, told TNIE that they are expecting Rs 200 crore to be sanctioned by year end. The rain has caused more damage to the classrooms and is also a reason for the delay in starting the work, he said, adding, Rs 60 to Rs 70 crore fund is needed for every district to carry out basic repair work like tiling and flooring. He also said there is shortage of engineers.

Vishal also highlighted poor toilet conditions in the schools.

Educationist and General Secretary of Karnataka Associated Management of English Medium Schools (KAMS) D Shashi Kumar said very very little work is being done on ground as against tall claims being made by the department. There should be a proper plan to execute the work. Only announcing it, with an eye on election, is not enough.

Kumar added, "So far we are only addressing the infrastructure aspect of classrooms and not the quality of education. The government has failed in improving the quality of learning when compared to other states. Both need to be done simultaneously."

HDK visits Siddaganga Mutt

BENGALURU: Senior JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy on Thursday launched the Tumakuru leg of his party's pancharatna yatra ahead of the 2023 Assembly elections. He visited the Siddaganga Mutt, a prominent Lingayat mutt, in Tumakuru, and prayed before the gaddige of Sri Shivakumara Swamiji. The mutt is situated in Tumakuru Rural constituency which is represented by JDS MLA DC Gowrishankar. However, the yatra received a lukewarm response in parts of Tumakuru City Assembly constituency represented by BJP MLA G B Jyothiganesh, son of Lok Sabha member GS Basavaraju. Tumakuru district, considered a stronghold of the JDS, has 11 Assembly segments of which three are represented by the party. JDS supremo HD Deve Gowda had lost the 2019 General Elections by a narrow margin from Tumakuru. Meanwhile, Kumaraswamy declared Govindaraju, a runner up in the 2018 Assembly polls, as the party's candidate from Tumakuru City.

Gowda opposes UCC, accuses Modi of favouring TN on water dispute

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

FORMER prime minister and JDS supremo H D Deve Gowda opposed the government's move to bring in the Uniform Civil Code, and clarified that he will stand by the Constitution.

He said there is no provision in the Constitution to impose a Common Civil Code, and warned of strong opposition from all quarters if they attempt to push it. The question is not whether the BJP would stand to benefit by the Common Civil Code, he said, and reiterated that the party will abide by the Constitution.

Gowda was speaking to the media after offering puja with his family members at Srikanteshwara temple in Nanjangud.

He expressed displeasure against Prime Minister Narendra Modi for not permitting Karnataka to construct the Mekedatu balancing reservoir to utilise waste water flowing into the sea. The riparian state of Tamil Nadu has been allowed to utilise surplus Cauvery water to irrigate 4 lakh acres of land in and around Salem district, he added.

Accusing the Union government of having entered into an understanding with AIADMK for mutual benefit in the future, Gowda recalled that he had written a letter to Modi on the Mekedatu project but had not received any reply. "I will raise the issue during the forthcoming session," he added.

Announcing that he will campaign from January to mobilise party workers for the assembly elections, he said many leaders, including H D Kumaraswamy, are part of the Pancharatna Yatra, and are staying in villages and interacting with people.

Appealing to party workers to go door-to-door to boost the prospects of the party, Gowda said the first list of candidates is not the final list, and is changed based on a daily survey report.

Asked about differences in Hassan district, Gowda said MLA Shivalinge Gowda has spoken to Kumaraswamy and the issue has to be resolved. "The Yediyurappa government has given strength to Preetham Gowda by allotting many works. The JDS will not bow to BJP power or pressure," Gowda said, and spoke of his family's abiding faith in Lord Srikanteshwara.

Cong will reintroduce old pension scheme if voted to power: MB Patil

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Vijayapura

CONGRESS MLA and KPCC campaign committee chairman MB Patil on Thursday said that the New Pension Scheme does not give any financial security after retirement. Calling it unjustified, Patil said that the Congress will implement the Old Pension Scheme if voted to power in the 2023 Assembly elections in Karnataka.

Addressing media persons here on Thursday, Patil said that the new scheme has many faults, and the money deducted from the salary of the employees is invested in the share market. "Since the share market is volatile, the employees may not get enough money after their retirement as a pension. The Congress has decided to include the pension issue in our manifesto and will implement it if we come to power," he said.

Referring to the ongoing border dispute between Maharashtra and Karnataka, Patil alleged that despite the matter ending decades ago, the BJP government of Maharashtra is raking up the issue deliberately.

The BJP government is deliberately raising the issue mainly to divert public attention from their failures, Patil said. "Residents of Jath and Akkalkot have expressed their desire to join Karnataka. They are unhappy with the Maharashtra government for not providing better facilities. When such is the reality, how will Maharashtra do justice to the people of Belagavi even if it joins Maharashtra?" he asked. He said that all political parties of the state are united in the matter of protecting Karnataka's land, culture and language.

Court rejects Murugha Mutt seer bail plea

ENS @ Chitradurga

THE second additional district judge on Thursday rejected the bail plea of Murugha Mutt pontiff Dr Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru, in the second Pocso case.

Second additional district judge BK Komala rejected the bail application filed by the pontiff's advocates. Sharanaru, who is facing POCSO charges, was arrested on September 1 after the first case was filed on August 26 at Mysuru's Nazarbad police station, and was subsequently transferred to Chitradurga Rural police station. The pontiff, who was refused bail in the first POCSO case, was rejected in the second case also. The appeal for the first bail plea is before the High Court.

Meanwhile, the court also reserved its orders to December 3, on the application filed by the police under Section 8 of The Religious Institutions (Prevention of Misuse) Act, 1988, requesting the court not to allow Dr Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru from conducting religious activities or take part in the administrative matters of SJM educational institutions and Murugha Mutt.

Advocate for the seer Umesh said that Dr Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru has already issued power of attorney on running day-to-day matters to Basavaprabhu Swamiji and Vastramutt, as the pontiff is behind bars, hence this issue doesn't arise, he added.

Neither me nor Ramesh will quit BJP, says Balachandra

ENS @ Belagavi

DENYING murmurs of quitting the BJP, Arabhavi MLA Balachandra Jarkiholi said that he and his brother Ramesh Jarkiholi will not quit the party. He was speaking at a Kanaka Jayanti event near Gokak on Thursday. Balachandra said that he and Ramesh will contest the 2023 Assembly elections from the BJP from Arabhavi and Gokak respectively.

"We will contest the 2023 polls on BJP tickets. However, our rivals have been spreading false news about us for the past few months. Ramesh will contest from Gokak and I will be in the fray from Arabhavi," Balachandra said. The duo has already won five assembly elections in a row from the same constituencies. "Prior to the 2018 polls, I had said that I would comfortably win from Arabhavi. But many people questioned if I was God to issue such a statement. I had told them that I was not God but the son of God. Even in 2023, I will win," he said.

Wakf Board chief must clarify: Jolle

MINISTER for Women and Child Welfare and Wakf Board, Shashikala Jolle, also issued a statement that neither had they received any such proposal nor was there any file related to it. "The government has not given permission to start (the schools and colleges exclusively for Muslim girls). It is far from the truth. We have told him (Saadi) to give clarification," she said.

After news was published in the media about the "government's proposal" to start exclusive colleges for Muslim girls, there was strong opposition from various pro-Hindu organisations, who warned of staging protests across the state. Some even demanded exclusive colleges and even a University for Hindus.

Shafi Saadi, however, was not available for comment.

From school infra to water, kids discuss pressing matters

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

MAKKALA Grama Sabha or children's village sabha was held on Thursday at Gopahalli grama panchayat of Ramanagara district. About 300 children engaged with officials and discussed matters affecting their daily lives.

The sabha was organised under the aegis of the Rural Development and Panchayat Raj (RDPR) Department and CMCA, a non-profit organisation that provides children with stimulating learning experiences that inculcate life skills and values for active citizenship. The sabha recognises children as equal citizens and enables them to understand and secure their right to participation, read a release from CMCA.

Prior to the sabha, CMCA conducted awareness sessions with children to help them gain a deeper understanding of the purpose of the sabha and their right to participation. Children discussed matters about infrastructure and staffing needs for their schools, the need for clean drinking water, issues in the village concerning roads, bus routes, and compensation for houses. The sabha is a great forum for children to interact with officials. Also, it is a wonderful experience for officers to hear from children, said Digvijay Bodke, chief executive officer, Ramanagara zilla panchayat. CMCA associate director Marulappa PR said this is an extraordinary initiative that gives children an experience of democracy in action at a young age. By participating in the sabha, children gain crucial skills and understand that elders and officials are available to support them and that they can engage with their government as junior citizens.

BJP UP TO OLD TRICKS, SAYS KCR'S DAUGHTER

Kavitha tells Modi she is not afraid of 'cheap tricks' after ED names her in remand report of Delhi liquor scam

TRS MLC Kavitha speaks to media at her residence in Hyderabad on Thursday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hyderabad

INCENSED over the Enforcement Directorate (ED) naming her in the remand report of the Delhi liquor scam, Telangana Rashtra Samithi (TRS) MLC and Chief Minister K Chandrasekhar Rao's daughter Kalvakuntla Kavitha on Thursday said she is not afraid of going to jail. "Do you want to put me in jail? Then do it. It is the maximum that you can do. I am not afraid. But whatever you do, I will not stop working for the people of Telangana," she asserted.

The MLC said that the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) was up to its old tricks again. "In any State where elections are due, it is the ED that enters first to unnerve the BJP's rivals. Then Modi enters to capitalise on the groundwork that the ED had done. As elections are scheduled for next year in Telangana, the ED and the CBI are in the State trying to scare ministers, MLAs and other TRS leaders," Kavitha said.

The ED, in the remand report to a Delhi court after the arrest of accused businessman Amit Arora, mentioned her name along with two others as being part of the 'South Group' that paid ₹100 crore to Vijay Nair of the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) in kickbacks in the Delhi liquor scam. "The 12% profit margin to the wholesalers was devised to extract half of it as a kickback to the AAP leaders. As per the investigation carried so far, Vijay Nair (the key accused), on behalf of the leaders of AAP has at least received kickbacks to the tune of ₹100 crore from a group called South Group," the report read.

The TRS leader, addressing the media at her residence, said that neither she nor TRS ministers or MLAs were afraid of the Central investigation teams. "Let them come and ask whatever questions they want to ask. We will give replies. We will cooperate with them," she said, but described using the investigation agencies as the most heinous method to break political rivals.

The MLC said that it had become a practice for the BJP leaders to first accuse their political rival of corruption, then send the investigation teams after them.

Pinarayi says police stn attack planned

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ T'Puram

ASSERTING that his government will not backtrack on the Vizhinjam seaport project, Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan on Thursday accused the anti-port agitators of trying destroy the peace and stall the progress of the state. "It is not a protest against the government... It's an attempt to halt the state's development. In whatever garb they come, they will not be permitted to succeed in their mission," Pinarayi said in his first public remark, three days after the agitators unleased large-scale violence attacking a police station and injuring over 35 personnel in Vizhinjam.

Alleging that the police station attack was executed after careful planning, he said "what was the provocation? They declare the attack in advance and implement it. A planned attack with a specially selected crowd. They are trying to destroy the peace and harmony existing in the state." He said the government will overcome all the challenges posed by vested interests acting against the state, and implement the seaport project in the same way as it executed the Gail pipeline, national highway and Edamon - Kochi power highway.

"There were differences between UDF and LDF on Vizhinjam port. But we have decided to go ahead with the project which had already started. If the fate of projects changes when the government changes, the investors would be wary of investing in Kerala. Such a situation is not in the interest of the state," Pinarayi said.

Pro-port stance sours church's love for Tharoor

T'Puram: Senior Congress leader Shashi Tharoor may be gathering new admirers across the state. However, it seems he has lost a crucial section of the mass base in his own constituency. His open support to the Vizhinjam seaport construction could prove costly for the Thiruvananthapuram MP as the Latin Catholic Archdiocese, a consistent vote bank of his, has urged various Church factions to join hands against him. The archdiocese is learnt to have communicated its displeasure with Tharoor to other Catholic Church heads. ENS

The corporate leaders who turned up for the conclave included executive chairman of ArcelorMittal LN Mittal, chairman and founder of Vedanta Resources Limited Anil Agarwal, chairman of JSW Group Sajjan Jindal, chairman of Jindal Steel and Power Limited (JSPL) Naveen Jindal, CEO of Adani Ports and SEZ Ltd Karan Adani and CEO and MD of Tata Steel Ltd TV Narendran.

3 accused in TRS MLAs' poaching case granted conditional bail by TS HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hyderabad

JUSTICE Chillakur Sumalatha of the Telangana High Court on Thursday granted conditional bail to the three accused in the TRS MLAs' poaching case — hotelier Kore Nandu Kumar, priests Ramachandra Bharati and Simhayaji — who are now lodged in Cherlapally Central Jail.

The accused were ordered to provide a ₹3 lakh personal bond and two sureties for like sums each and told to hand over their passports to the Special Investigation Team (SIT). They were also asked to not involve themselves in any unlawful activity apart from being asked to provide all assistance for the proper investigation of the case.

The court also asked them not to tamper with the evidence in any manner, and should not by way of inducement, threat or promise, dissuade any person who is acquainted with the facts of the case, from disclosing them to the court or to police. Apart from that, they were barred from leaving the country without the court's permission and asked to appear before the SIT every Monday between 10.30 am and 12 noon till the chargesheet is filed.

The petitioners had to file separate affidavits before the court concerned disclosing the contact number, mail address and residential particulars. In case there is any change in the aforementioned details, the petitioners shall intimate the court concerned by giving separate fresh affidavits duly mentioning the change, the HC said, adding that they should continue to do so till the filing of the final report. Any deviation from the above conditions would entitle the respondent to take appropriate steps for cancellation of the bail granted, the bail order read.

During the hearing, Justice Sumalatha questioned L Ravichander, senior counsel representing one of the accused, about the basis for his request for release to which he responded by saying that no notice under Section 41A of the CrPC has been given by the police.

The three accused were detained on October 26 but their remand was rejected by the Additional Special Court for ACB matters on October 27. Subsequently, on this court's orders, the three were detained once more on October 29, and this time they were remanded to judicial custody.

Justice Sumalatha, in her order, said, "Admittedly, the State has (the) power to curtail those who hamper the investigation and it is more than one month that the accused are in prison and the material part of investigation is complete. As a result, this court considers it acceptable to grant the criminal petitions of the accused in order to enhance their bail."

Speed stunt kills Chennai teens, video goes viral

SAHAYA NOVINSTON LOBO @ Chennai

TWO bike-borne teenagers, aged 17 and 19, died on Tuesday after they lost control of the bike, speeding at 114 km per hour, and rammed the road median at Taramani in Chennai to avoid dashing against a minivan. The video of the accident, which was being recorded by the youth to be posted on social media with a camera attached to the helmet, went viral on Thursday.

The deceased were identified as Praveen (19) and Hari (17) of Taramani. On Tuesday evening, they had gone for a ride on 100-feet road in Taramani. They had planned to drive through OMR and record their driving on the small camera.

In the 2:22-minute-long video, it can be seen that just after 20 seconds, they met with the fatal accident. The rest of the video shows people gathering around and calling an ambulance, and the arrival of police personnel.

'KCR behaving like he is chief of Taliban'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hyderabad

STATING that Telangana has turned into another Afghanistan, YSRTP president YS Sharmila on Thursday accused Chief Minister K Chandrasekhar Rao of acting like the chief of Taliban and enforcing feudal rule in the State.

Sharmila, along with her party leaders met Governor Tamilisai Soundararajan at the Raj Bhavan and alleged that "the chief minister has conspired to create disturbances and obstruct her padayatra as he was worried due to the tremendous response to her 3,500 km 'Praja Prasthanam' padayatra from the people".

Speaking to the media after the meeting, Sharmila blamed the Chief Minister for the way TRS workers were creating difficulties in her padayatra by burning her flexies and attacking her party workers, damaging her padayatra vehicles, as well as the way police arrested her when she tried to show her damaged vehicles to KCR by going to the Pragathi Bhavan.

Upgraded Karnataka Skill Connect Portal to bridge gap

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AS part of Good Governance Month, Higher Education and Skill Development Minister Ashwath Narayan announced an upgraded Karnataka Skill Connect Portal. According to him, the revised portal will bring together both employers and job seekers together to bridge the gap between supply and demand.

"Online digital learning courses will also be introduced in universities. Accordingly, every university will have to have minimum one degree course in online format before March 2023. Universities have been instructed to get registered at Academic Bank of Credits before December 22. Besides, they need to sign MoUs with at least five industry partners in the next three months," he said.

He also promised that 60,000 ITI students will be provided training by Microsoft and all ITI marks cards will be digitised and uploaded on the National Academic Depository (NAD).

The minister also unveiled several 'pledge letters', proposing reforms in Skill Development, Higher Education, IT/BT, and Science and Technology departments.

He proposed creation of two wings dedicated to employment and seat allotment, which is currently being handled by the Karnataka Development Authority (KEA). "Currently, KEA has been handling both employment and seat allotment for professional courses. However, this is leading to confusion and also delaying the process. The decision to create two dedicated wings has been taken to put an end to this. As many as 20 new posts need to be created at KEA to execute this and a proposal has been sent to the Finance Department seeking its approval," he said.

"English learning labs will be set up, arrangements will be made to teach Japanese language, new software will be introduced to facilitate financial transactions of self help groups and ID cards will be provided to street vendors. Motivation camps will also be conducted for 13,500 women entrepreneurs through the Centre for Entrepreneurship Development of Karnataka (CEDoK) and job letters will be given to 10,000 job aspirants," he announced.

Man held for unnatural sex with cow in Suntikoppa

Madikeri: A man from Suntikoppa in Kodagu has been arrested for allegedly having unnatural sex with a cow. The accused, Abubaker Siddique (40) of Suntikoppa has been sent to judicial custody. It is alleged that the accused had unnatural sex with a cow that was tied for grazing on an agriculture farmland in Suntikoppa. The incident came to light when cow's owner Devaiah was returning from town to the farmland and he noticed a bike parked in his field. The alleged sex act was revealed when Devaiah investigated around the farmland. He immediately nabbed the accused and handed him over to the police. The accused has been booked under Section 377 of the IPC and has been sent to judicial custody. ENS

RELIGION SHOULD NOT BE BARRIER BETWEEN PEOPLE AND SPORTS

The soccer mania in Kerala, ignited by the FIFA World Cup-22 being held in Qatar, has attracted worldwide attention, with international media zooming their lenses on Malabar villages bustling with football-related activities. Huge cut-outs of players like Messi, Ronaldo and Neymar have appeared on waysides, and each match is dissected and discussed in tea shops, households, and classrooms. But sadly, a religious organisation in Kerala felt that it is an 'overindulgence' which is against Islamic principles. Samastha Kerala Jam-Iyyathul Qutba Committee, the organisation of qateebs who deliver sermons during Friday prayers in mosques, tried to pour cold water into the enthusiasm by saying the football fever should be discouraged. In a communiqué sent to the mosques under it, the Qutba Committee said the football craze is disrupting the five-time prayers of the believers, and the 'hero-worship' of the players is an unacceptable practice in Islam. The issue was taken up by some other preachers as well, who termed football as a 'meaningless game' and went to the ludicrous extent of linking it with colonialism.

No one would question the Islamic preachers' right to enlighten their followers about an issue they deem relevant. But the point is whether it is a healthy practice to portray the game as antithetical to Islamic sentiments. Saudi Arabia did not have any problem declaring an official holiday when its team won the match against Argentina. The venue of the inauguration in Qatar reverberated with verses from the Quran, which stated that human beings were created from one male and one female. People of different nationalities, races, and religions throng the stadiums, which have become venues for celebrations of diversity. A young boy in a remote village in Kasaragod district in Kerala cries inconsolably when his favourite team is defeated. And, a little girl in Malappuram dares those who take jibes at her idol Messi. Such is the beauty of the game that has become a great unifying factor for humanity and a leveller of all discriminations.

Games and entertainments also are an integral part of life, and we need not create a necessary binary between religion and sports. Qatar ruler Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad Al Thani summed up the football spirit in his address at the inaugural function when he said: "How lovely it is that people can put aside what divides them to celebrate their diversity and what brings them together."

RISING JUVENILE SEXUAL ASSAULTS ALARMING

The gang rape of a Class X student by five of her classmates in Hyderabad, which came to light on Tuesday after three months, is yet another stark reminder of the incidence of crimes against women being committed by juveniles. Whether it is Hyderabad, Delhi, Tamil Nadu, Bihar, or other parts of the country, the alarming regularity of sexual assaults by minors cannot be brushed under the carpet any longer.

In the latest case, five minor boys allegedly not only gang raped her but also uploaded video clips of the same on social media besides sharing it on WhatsApp. Not so long ago, a minor girl was raped in a moving car in Hyderabad by a group of youngsters, allegedly including a legislator's son. What have we learnt from Nirbhaya to Kathua gang rape and murder cases? It is obvious that legislation is not acting as an effective deterrent. Under the POCSO Act, gang rape of a minor is punishable with rigorous imprisonment of up to 20 years or for the rest of the natural life of the convicts or even death. If the culprits are minors, the maximum imprisonment under the Juvenile Justice Act is three years. Yes, in some cases, the accused can be treated and tried as adults. But is it happening? No.

Quite a few debates have taken place over the years in both Houses of Parliament, and laws have been enacted or amended from time to time. Now, it is time to rethink whether that is enough. Juvenile criminals are treated with kid gloves as a matter of routine under the traditional assumption that they are unaware of the gravity of their acts. It is pertinent to note here that the Supreme Court, too, has observed that "the leniency with which juveniles are dealt with in the name of the goal of reformation is making them increasingly emboldened in indulging in such heinous crimes." It has also advised the Central government to take a relook at the Juvenile Justice Act.

There are no easy solutions to stem the tide of the rising crime graph of juveniles. We must make the Juvenile Justice Act stringent. But that alone isn't enough. The widespread objectification of women, easy accessibility to pornography, and a lack of parental control are possibly among major causes that must be addressed. The society as a whole must ponder over this and debate.

QUICK TAKE

AFFORDABILITY OF BAIL

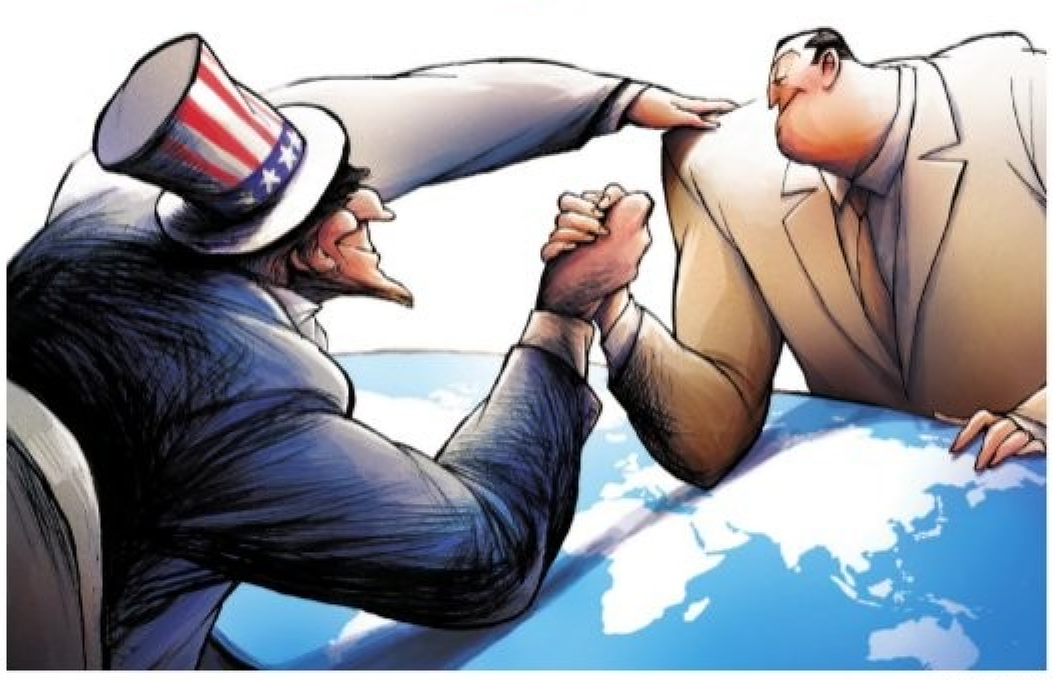
The Supreme Court focuses on thousands of detainees who remain in jail for years even after getting bail. High time this issue is resolved to ease pressure on overcrowded jails. Three out of four prisoners in Indian prisons are undertrials, mostly from marginalised classes. Those who get bail prefer being behind bars for want of money for the bail bond. Many can't find people to stand surety by furnishing property documents or title deeds. The plight of orphans or beggars is the worst. The government must review bail provisions and, to begin with, implement token bail conditions for simple offences.

US' drive for a global order in economy and trade comes up against China's economic interlinkages with the West

THE WORLD ACCORDING TO WASHINGTON

P S RAGHAVAN

Distinguished Fellow, Vivekananda International Foundation, and a former diplomat



SOUMYADIP SINHA

At his recent meeting with Chinese President Xi Jinping in Bali, US President Joe Biden told him that the United States will compete vigorously with China, but will also cooperate on major transnational challenges like climate change, health security and food security. This competition-cooperation binary is at the heart of the US National Security Strategy (NSS) that the Biden administration unveiled recently. The NSS is intended to convey US strategic thinking to the American public, its legislature and US allies, partners and adversaries.

In recent decades, the (geopolitically logical) strategic priority of the US has been to preserve the global dominance that it acquired after the Cold War. The NSS reiterates this priority: it declares that the US will "outcompete" competitors, lead a collective response to global challenges, and shape international "rules of the road" for technology, trade and economics.

The NSS recognises the realities of the post-Cold War world. The unipolar aftermath of the Cold War has given way to major power rivalries, as well as competing ambitions of middle powers that have benefited from globalisation and the diffusion of technologies. The US will continue to propagate democracy around the world, but acknowledges that societies cannot be "remade in America's image"—as its experience in Afghanistan showed. It recognises that even democracies that broadly share the US vision may not agree with it on all issues. Further, it states that the US will partner with any nation committed to a rules-based order, whether or not it is a democracy. All nations would have a role in shaping the rules of the international order and the right to determine their foreign policy and economic choices.

It is a vision of a US-led order, accommodating a diversity of perspectives, interests and ideologies. But, as an undisputed superpower over decades, the US is not used to democratically managing such a diverse coalition. Its ability to embrace the practice, as completely as the concept, will be tested.

Russia and China are identified as strategic challengers, but in different leagues. Russia is "an immediate and persistent threat", but China is the only competitor with the comprehensive power and the intent to reshape the global order.

The NSS says that US national security interests will be protected by "integrated deterrence". This means combining military and economic levers with diplomacy and covert actions, to convince a potential adversary that the costs of crossing a defined red line would outweigh the benefits of doing so.

In practice, such coordination is difficult in a democracy, as past experience has shown. The US identified China as a strategic competitor as early as in the early 2000s. But commercial interests of Wall Street, Silicon Valley and Hollywood, as well as other political influences, prevented a holistic response to China's rise, until it simply could not be ignored. India has faced similar challenges when economic or regional interests have impacted our national security strategies.

The NSS envisages cooperation with US allies and partners on integrated deterrence, through joint capability development, interoperability and coordinated diplomatic and economic approaches. This effort was evident in the measures taken by the US and its allies in response to Russia's invasion of Ukraine. Their patchy implementation illustrated the limitations of an international deterrence strategy when national interests intervene.

The NSS acknowledges that critical transnational challenges like food, health and energy security, climate change and terrorism, require cooperation with the same rivals with whom the global order is hotly contested. Competition affects cooperation (as happened in the early stages of Covid-19) and the need for cooperation would necessarily temper competition. A US strategy has to address this contradiction.

The US drive for a global order in economy and trade comes up against China's economic interlinkages with the West, and the inroads of its development assistance initiatives across the developing world. Competition with China to establish global technology standards could create two distinct sets of standards. The NSS declares that the US does not want such a technoeconomic divide, but does not indicate how it will avert it. Many countries, including US allies France and Germany, have recently expressed concern about the negative global impact of such a divide.

Given the complexities and the cross-linkages, there are inevitably many circles to be squared and not many indications of how this would be done. The sliding scales of cooperation and competition, moving in opposite directions, will impact both friends and adversaries of the US. The fate of globalisation would hinge on it. Moreover, there is no hint of a roadmap towards a desired global order or a timeframe for its achievement.

A publicly articulated national security strategy has to retain sufficient ambiguity to allow for on-course adjustments. However, the basic elements are clear: prioritisation of domestic growth and infrastructure development over ambitious foreign campaigns, a whole-of-government approach to geopolitical competition, and building a broad coalition of allies and partners for a rules-based global order. An important confirmation—also for India—was that the current US engagement in Europe will not deflect its focus from its core interests in the Indo-Pacific.

The NSS recognises India as an important bilateral and multilateral partner. It accommodates the independence of foreign policy of US partners. The US has shown understanding of the strategic perspectives driving India's recent foreign policy choices. India would welcome the cooperation in capacity building and coordination of diplomatic approaches, envisaged in the NSS for US partners, particularly in the Indo-Pacific.

A national security strategy needs a conducive operating environment. The protracted war in Ukraine has exacerbated geopolitical competition and set back cooperation on transnational challenges. While many countries offer advice, exhortation and mediation, the United States—as the global superpower—has levers with allies, partners and adversaries to push for an ending, consistent with its strategic objectives. It is not clear if, and when, they will be activated.

CLIMATE CHANGE AND TRADE RULES

BISWAJIT DHAR

Professor, Centre for Economic Studies and Planning, School of Social Sciences, JNU

On the eve of the recently concluded COP27, the World Trade Organization (WTO) unveiled its report highlighting the importance of global trade rules for arresting global warming. Coincidentally, three decades back, WTO's predecessor organisation, the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT), did likewise to showcase the relevance of trade rules for protecting the environment when the United Nations Conference on Environment and Development (UNCED) or the 'Earth Summit' was drawing up a comprehensive set of environmental regulations. The UNCED had unveiled 'Agenda 21', an expansive plan for environmental governance that required every country to undertake economic and social development sustainably. The UNFCCC is the outcome of one of the several decisions taken after the Earth Summit and is among the several multilateral environmental agreements (MEAs) in place.

One of the major outcomes of the UNCED was the establishment of a regulatory regime for ensuring that environmental resources are not freely available and the users would pay a price for accessing them. The objective of this regime is to end the over-exploitation of these resources and to also promote their sustainable use. For example, the UNFCCC includes the 'Polluter Pays principle', implying that every signatory to the Convention occupying the carbon space must take steps to limit Earth's temperature from exceeding 1.5°C as compared to pre-industrial levels by 2050.

Many would wonder how the WTO, as did the GATT then, argued its case for applying global trade rules for protecting the environment when the raison d'être of these rules is to deregulate markets, allowing market forces untrammelled access to the world's resources, including environmental resources. Votaries of free trade have generally argued that trade openness is a magic bullet and that once an economy is freed from all distortions (read "regulations"), there would be an all-round improvement, including the promotion of goods and services that are environment-friendly. The GATT/WTO rules are not generally supportive of trade restrictions for environmental protection since impediments to the free flow of trade are generally deemed to be harmful to the environment. In fact, multilateral trading system allows imposition of trade restrictions for protecting the environment only under two circumstances, namely, when they are "necessary to protect human, animal or plant life or health" and for the "conservation of exhaustible natural resources".

Although the GATT/WTO intends that any form of trade restriction that its members use, including for environmental purposes, must conform with its rules, concerns that free trade was responsible for environmental degradation in several areas changed the discourse to a significant extent. With the sudden spurt in global trade post-World War II, its impact on environmental resources began to be felt. Among the several MEAs that include specific trade obligations (STOs) is the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora (CITES), which played a key role in restricting ivory trade from Africa, besides preventing the extinction of several critically endangered species. The Montreal Protocol for protecting the ozone layer also banned trade in ozone-depleting substances. WTO members were mandated to negotiate the relationship between existing WTO rules and STOs of the MEAs to enhance mutual supportiveness. These negotiations have remained inconclusive for the past two decades.

Trade liberalisation via the WTO rules has made solar energy more affordable. However, India's push for promoting solar power projects provides a counterfactual

In the absence of proper appreciation on the part of the WTO on the need to fulfil the objectives of MEAs, the former has been trumpeting the importance of its own rules for protecting the environment. This is also the substance of WTO's latest report on 'Climate change and international trade'. The report makes at least two claims that WTO rules are furthering the objectives of UNFCCC, which are completely unfounded.

First, it claims that "well-functioning markets are important to address climate-related food security challenges" and that WTO's Agreement on Agriculture (AoA), particularly its rules on production-related subsidies (or domestic subsidies), are improving the functioning of the markets. The reality is that the advanced countries liberally subside their resource-intensive agricultural practices, excessively using fossil fuels to produce largely for the export market. Thus, besides being environmentally damaging, advanced country agriculture has also been squeezing out farmer-centric agriculture in developing countries.

Secondly, the report claims that the cost of solar panel systems has plummeted in the last three decades, largely due to scale economies, made possible in part by international trade and production networks. In other words, trade liberalisation via the WTO rules has made solar energy more affordable. However, India's push for promoting solar power projects provides a counterfactual. While promoting the Jawaharlal Nehru National Solar Mission in 2010–11, the Indian government had included a condition that solar power developers must purchase and use solar cells and solar modules of domestic origin. This was intended to ramp up domestic production of cells and modules and lower the cost of production as the National Solar Mission had set ambitious targets for increasing solar energy, which would have required large-scale production, giving rise to benefits from scale economies. However, the United States initiated a dispute against India, arguing that its policy was against the WTO rules of free trade. India lost the case in the WTO, making it a large importer of solar panels and dependent on China to boot.

Finally, the report argues erroneously that WTO facilitates access to technologies to developing countries through the Agreement on Trade-Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights (TRIPS). The facts are far from this claim. The TRIPS Agreement provides enhanced protection to intellectual property owners, largely giant corporations, who rarely share their technologies with developing countries. The climate change negotiations have witnessed little forward movement on sharing of climate-friendly technologies, which is hardly unexpected as these corporations had denied technologies for producing vaccines and medicines in developing countries during the Covid pandemic.

Environment-friendly port

Apropos of Protests aside, saving Vizhinjam port a must (Dec 1). Construction initiatives must be carried out sustainably to protect the coastal habitat and peoples' way of life instead of causing accidents and loss of homes. I urge the government to take these accusations seriously and come up with a solution that is both environment-friendly and development-oriented.

Charis Xavier, Thiruvananthapuram

Government blunder

Having signed the agreement to build the Vizhinjam seaport, the government is duty-bound to facilitate a safe working environment for the contractors. The state administration is at fault for ignoring repeated court orders to provide protection. Hands of the police were tied and even ambulances were not allowed to reach the site to carry the injured to hospitals. The situation should not have been allowed to deteriorate to such a sorry state.

Discipline with kindness

Apropos of Brutality not the solution to student indiscipline (Dec 1). Students today are becoming more vulnerable. They must be disciplined with love rather than with fear. Parents and teachers should have a conversation on how to discipline students.

India must live up to post

The nation is quite proud of assuming the post of G20 president. We should reflect a little to eliminate the inconsistencies in our own governance as we commit to improve the world. India is not the perfect candidate to be called the "Mother of democracy" given the ongoing issues in the country.

Peter, Dindigul

Where is democracy?

The Kerala Cabinet approving the draft bill removing Arif Mohammad Khan as Chancellor is the most distressing development as it is not good for a healthy democracy. If universities are caught in dirty politics and thereby lose their earlier exalted status, the question of producing one original man will become a thing of the past.

R Pichumani, Kumbakonam

Menstrual hygiene

Apropos of Menstrual hygiene priority (Dec 1). The girl child's education heavily depends on menstrual hygiene, making this a responsibility of the state and Central government. Otherwise, this may cost the child her education. The government should set up stalls for sanitary pads and raise awareness to wipe out taboos.

No charges framed against 8 Indians detained in Qatar

Eight former naval officers were taken into captivity on August 30

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

IT has been 90 days since eight former Indian naval officers were taken into captivity in Qatar. Their bail applications have not been accepted, and what is more disconcerting is the fact that no charges have been levelled against them yet.

"What is of utmost concern for us is that no charges have been levelled against these eight officers, despite the fact that they have been kept in solitary confinement," sources told this newspaper.

It is learnt that a week after these naval officers were detained in Doha (on August 30), the CEO of Dahra Global Technologies and Consultancy in Oman Khamis Al Ajmi (who is a retired squadron leader of the Royal Oman Air) came to Doha to rescue the officers. However, the Qatar's state security bureau (ministry of interior) detained him too. He was under detention for nearly two months and has now been released on bail. However, he cannot move out of Doha till this case is finally resolved.

The families of the naval officers have been pursuing and following up with the Qatari authorities to release the officers on bail. However, none of their bail pleas has been accepted. A bail application has been put up every month for the past three months, sources said.

Some point out that in Qatar it takes about 90 days of detention (which the naval officers have completed) before charges are framed and the detainees released.

Meanwhile, according to the Ministry of External Affairs, the Indian embassy in Doha is actively pursuing their case. The detained Indians are able to speak to their families back home in India now over telephone on a regular basis. Some of them have families staying in Doha and they are allowed weekly physical meetings.

"We will allow all possible consular assistance. We are seeking further consular access from the embassy to these people,'' MEA spokesperson Arindam Bagchi said.

The eight officers in detention are also fighting depression and a range of health issues. Their families are hoping that they would be considered to be let out on bail, which will enable them to live with their respective families.

"The officers were working with Dahra Global Technologies and Consultancy in Doha for five years. Sometime in August they were picked up from their homes in the middle of the night by the state security bureau,'' according to sources.

These officers were involved in providing training to Qatari navy.

EX-NAVY OFFICERS IN DOHA SOLITARY CELL, INDIA MUM

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

IT'S been three months since eight former naval officers were mysteriously detained in the Qatari capital Doha. The eight were working for a firm Dahra Global Technologies and Consultancy. New Delhi is aware of the incident but has abstained from making any official statement on why they have been detained.

"The officers were work- ... al Oman Air Force. The website of the company is said to be under maintenance so no further details of the group could be gathered.

"One consular access was granted on October 3 following which it came to be known that these officers were being kept under solitary confinement and as a result of which they were undergoing extreme mental harassment," said the source.

Ayush min flip-flop over Patanjali ads

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

THE Ayush ministry has made a U-turn on the advertisements of products, contradicting its stand and the minister's statement in Parliament, an RTI reply has revealed.

After Kannur-based ophthalmologist KV Babu complained against advertisements by Baba Ramdev's Haridwar-based Patanjali Ayurved, the Ayush ministry asked the Uttarakhand licensing authority to take action. However, the state licensing authority cited Rule 170 of the Drugs and Cosmetic Act 1945, saying it prevented them from penalising the Patanjali group's Divya Pharmacy and that the provision's application was sub-judice.

According to Babu, despite knowing that action can be taken under the Magic Remedies Act, the ministry did not correct the licensing authority.

In its reply to Babu on November 22, the ministry reiterated the stand taken by the state licensing authority, and said, "The matter is sub-judice" before the Bombay High Court and "necessary action may be taken subject to the final decision of the court".

The ministry didn't correct the state authority that action can be taken under Drugs and Magic Remedies (Objectionable Advertisements) 1954, 3 (d) and Drugs and Cosmetic Rules 1945, 106 (1), Babu said. Under these sections, ads for scheduled drugs are prohibited.

The complaint was against an advertisement claiming that Divya Pharmacy's Lipidom could reduce cholesterol.

"In my complaint in February this year, I had sought action against the misleading advertisement under Drugs and Magic Remedies (Objectionable Advertisements) 1954. I made no complaint under Rule 170. They knowingly cited Rule 170, which they knew could not be used, and flagged it to state that the matter is sub-judice," Babu told this newspaper.

"The Drug Policy Section of the Ministry of Ayush is misinterpreting the stay on Rule 170, which was added just to reinforce the existing Acts, as a stay on the whole of DMR (OA) 1954 section 3(d) and D & C Act 1945, section 106(1), which prohibits the advertisements of the drugs under schedule."

Babu said he has now written to Ayush Minister Sarbananda Sonowal for "wrong interpretation of the sub-judice nature of Rule 170 of D & C Rules 1945, thereby exonerating the violators of DMR (OA) 1954" and requested him to intervene.

The RTI activist added that the ministry's U-turn is contradictory to the minister's statement in Parliament in March and their communications to the licensing authority in April and then in September, asking them to initiate action against Divya Pharmacy under DMR (OA) 1954.

"If the present position of the Ministry of Ayush, which is contradictory to the rules of the land, is implemented, it will lead to flooding of the media with misleading advertisements and will prove a public health disaster," Babu added.

Sonowal had said in parliament that "the protocol or guidelines are in force to restrict Ayush products of medicinal use with dubious claims and for selling certain medicines under medical supervision." He had said in Rajya Sabha on March 22 that the "Drugs and Magic Remedies (Objectionable Advertisements) Act, 1954 and Rules there under encompass the provisions for prohibition of misleading advertisements and exaggerated claims of drugs and medicinal substances, including Ayush medicines and for the penalty to be imposed on the defaulters."

'GUIDELINES IN FORCE,' MINISTER HAD SAID ABOUT DUBIOUS CLAIMS FOR AYUSH PRODUCTS

RTI activist and ophthalmologist Dr KV Babu Babu said he has now written to Ayush Minister Sarbananda Sonowal for "wrong interpretation of the sub-judice nature of Rule 170 of D & C Rules 1945, thereby exonerating the violators of DMR (OA) 1954" and requested him to intervene. He added that the U-turn by the Ayush ministry is contradictory to the statement of Sonowal in Parliament in March 2022 and their communications to the state licensing authority in April and then in September, asking them to initiate action against Divya Pharmacy under DMR (OA) 1954. Sonowal had said in parliament that "the protocol or guidelines are in force to restrict Ayush products of medicinal use with dubious claims and for selling certain medicines under medical supervision."

Experts call for cap on spending as EC shows BJP has got max funds

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

AS the latest report published by the Election Commission of India showed that the Bharatiya Janata Party received maximum contributions in fiscal year 2021-22, former bureaucrats and activists say it is high time that political parties declare their source of funding to ensure transparency in political funding.

According to reports submitted by various political parties to the ECI, BJP came at the top with ₹615.53 crore, followed by the Congress that got ₹95.46 crore as contributions. The Trinamool Congress received ₹43 lakh while the figure for CPM was ₹10.05 crore.

The report published on the EC website on Tuesday showed that the BJP received more than 50% of its contributions from an electoral trust, The Prudent Electoral Trust. As per a recent report by the Association for Democratic Reforms, the BJP got ₹163.54 crore, or 94% of total corporate donations in Gujarat during the financial years 2016-2021.

Political parties should announce their source of funding whether through contributions or electoral bonds, says former Election Commissioner SY Quraishi. He adds that though the EC has imposed a ceiling on expenditure by candidates in state and Lok Sabha polls, political parties enjoy immunity.

"There is no level playing field as political parties can spend limitless money even though there's a ceiling on expenditure by the candidate. The government should bring in legislation to put a cap on expenditure by parties and it should be kept the same for candidates," he said. While the expenditure limit for a candidate in the Lok Sabha election is up to ₹95 lakh, it's fixed at ₹40 lakh for Assembly elections.

In September, the EC proposed to the law ministry to reduce political contributions from ₹20,000 to ₹2,000 and limit cash donations at 20% or at a maximum of ₹20 crore.

However, Jagdeep Chhokar, co-founder of ADR, says that to ensure transparency, all political parties should be brought under the purview of the RTI Act and all transactions should be made through digital mode.

"There are so many loopholes that they hide behind. We have been fighting for this in the SC but the petition hasn't been heard yet," he said. ADR has filed a PIL demanding that the Electoral Bond Scheme 2018, should be scrapped.

Quraishi also feels that political parties should be funded by the state so that private funding can be stopped.

India assumes rotating UNSC presidency for December

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

INDIA assumed the monthly rotating presidency of the UN Security Council on Thursday. This is the second time in its two-year tenure as an elected member of the UN Security Council (2021-2022) that India will assume the presidency of the Council, having assumed it earlier in August 2021.

"This presidency will be marked by two major events at the ministerial level – on reformed multilateralism and on counter-terrorism. Both will be chaired by the external affairs minister,'' sources said.

The first event, 'New Orientation for Reformed Multilateralism', envisages reforms in the current multilateral architecture with the UN at its centre to make it more representative and fit for purpose. This open debate is intended to encourage UN member states to take this conversation forward by deliberating on the elements of a new orientation for multilateralism.

The second event is titled 'Threats to International Peace and Security Caused by Terrorist Acts: Global Approach to Counter Terrorism — Challenges and Way Forward'.

"Realising that the threat of terrorism is grave, universal and transnational in character, this briefing intends to underscore the necessity of collective and coordinated efforts to combat the menace of terrorism,'' as per sources.

24L HIV-POSITIVE PEOPLE IN INDIA, NEW CASES DECLINE

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

THE number of people living with HIV in India is estimated to be around 24 lakh, with Maharashtra, Andhra Pradesh, and Karnataka reporting the maximum numbers, according to the India HIV Estimates 2021 report released on Thursday.

As per the Union Health Ministry report, the annual new infections in 2021 are estimated at around 63,000, a 46.3% decline since 2010.

A declining trend was noted in most states, with the most rapid decline seen in Himachal Pradesh (43%), Tamil Nadu (72%), and Telangana (71%).

However, new infections were reported from Tripura, Meghalaya, Arunachal Pradesh, Assam, Sikkim, and Mizoram, and also Daman and Diu and Dadra and Nagar Haveli.

Also, last year AIDS-related deaths (ARD) were estimated at around 42,000, a 75.5% decline from 2010 to 2021, the report said. "A declining trend is noted in all states and union territories, excluding Puducherry, Arunachal Pradesh, Meghalaya and Tripura. The highest decline in AIDS-related deaths is estimated in Chandigarh, Telangana and West Bengal," said the report, released on the occasion of World AIDS Day, by S. Gopalakrishnan, special secretary in the Union Health Ministry.

Speaking at the occasion, Hekali Zhimomi, director general, National AIDS Control Organisation, said that "annual new HIV infections declined by 46% between 2010-2021 against the global average of 32%. AIDS-related mortality has declined by 76% against the global average of 52%."

The report said that overall the estimated adult HIV prevalence – 15-49 years – had been declining in India since the epidemic's peak in 2000 when it was estimated at 0.55%. It dipped to 0.32% in 2010 and 0.21% in 2021.

"In 2021, HIV prevalence among the adult male population was estimated at 0.22% while among the adult female population, it was 0.19%," the report said.

It added that adults above 15 years who are living with HIV are estimated to account for 97% (over 23 lakh) of the infections, while children (0-14 years) were estimated to account for 3% (0.69 lakh). Young people (15-24 years) were estimated to account for 7% (1.70 lakh) of the total number of people living with HIV in India. About 55% of those living with HIV are male while 45% are female.

An estimated number of annual new HIV infections was over 63,000 in 2021. Those above 15 years accounted for 92% (over 58,000) of the new infections, while children (0-14 years) accounted for 8%.

According to NACO director Nidhi Kesarwani, the ministry aims to reduce annual new HIV infections and AIDS-related mortalities by 80% by 2025-26 so that AIDS as a public health threat ends in India by 2030.

SC reserves verdict in plea against J&K delimitation

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Thursday reserved its verdict on a plea challenging the move of the Delimitation Commission of redrawing poll constituencies in Jammu and Kashmir and increasing the tally of Assembly seats from 107 to 114. The plea had also challenged the notifications issued in 2020 by the Ministry of Law and Justice for constituting a delimitation panel to take up the exercise in the Union Territory.

A bench of Justices SK Kaul and AS Oka said, "Arguments heard. Judgment reserved."

The court had quizzed the petitioners for not challenging the specific provisions of Jammu and Kashmir Reorganisation Act that conferred on the Delimitation Commission the power to carry out "readjustment" of constituencies in the UT which was formed after abrogating Article 370.

Appearing for Srinagar resident Haji Abdul Ghani Khan and Mohammad Ayub Mattoo, senior advocate Ravi Shankar Jandhyala said the constitution of the panel was without power, jurisdiction and authority.

Defending the exercise, Solicitor General Tushar Mehta argued that draft orders of the Delimitation Commission inviting comments were published in the gazette on March 14. "Procedure is followed by the Delimitation Commission. Previously also constitutionally fixed number of seats of MLAs were reorganised in Reorganisation Act," he said.

SYSTEM TO CUT DELIVERY TIME FOR ONLINE ORDERS

The time between placing order on e-commerce sites and getting it delivered could soon shrink significantly. Engineers in University of Missouri have worked out a system wherein human-robot collaborative measures are being optimised to quicken the sorting process before order dispatches. Companies have already developed collaborative robots, called autonomous mobile robots (AMRs) to work in distribution centres. They are equipped with sensors and cameras to help them navigate around a controlled space like a warehouse. However, the AMRs are not designed to replace humans, to eliminate the drawback of robots being unable to grasp the goods as effectively as humans.

NEW CRASH-PROOF TRAINING TECH FOR TEEN DRIVERS WITH ADHD

A new driving simulator training could come in handy to reduce road crashes especially by teenagers with attention-deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD) — a disorder that is not checked for among candidate drivers while taking the licence tests in India. It is a computer-based program, called Focussed Concentration and Attention Learning (FOCAL), that teaches drivers with ADHD to limit long glances away from the roadway. It has been developed by Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center in the USA. The researchers have added a simulator that provides immediate feedback on long glances, calling the combined training 'FOCAL+'. ADHD involves high frequency of inattention, hyperactivity and impulsive actions which can critically interfere with normal functioning. And while driving, this could prove fatal. A study has found that teen drivers are four times more prone to be involved in crashes than adult drivers, and teenagers with ADHD are twice as prone to crashing than those without ADHD.

UNIQUE GENETIC TECH TO GROW FRUITS IN DROUGHT CONDITIONS

Researchers have completed the first-ever study to map gene expression changes in tomatoes in response to drought, which can apply to a range of other fruits as well to help grow them in water-stressed conditions. The researchers from Boyce Thompson Institute in Cornell University, USA, selected candidate genes for the study and looked at gene expressions in tomato leaves and six fruit organs (pericarp, placenta, septum, columella, jelly and seeds) during the growth stage and in the ripe state, and that too under conditions without drought, mild drought, intermediate drought and severe drought. They found that each of the organ tissues changed in unique ways over time through the four conditions. The crucial detail they discovered was that less than 1% of the gene expressions affected by drought were common in all the tissues, while over 50% of the affected genes were specific to single tissues. The researchers modified the less than 1% genes expressed that were common to all the tissues to make the fruit more resilient to drought. When the seeds from treated plants were sown in drought conditions, they found that the seedlings from the stressed tomatoes actually showed recovery compared to seedlings from tomatoes taken from untreated plants. The technique can also be applied to other fleshy fruits, including grapes and apples.

Time has come to implement UCC in country: Shivraj

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bhopal

MADHYA Pradesh has become the latest BJP-ruled state to be actively considering implementing the Uniform Civil Code. Addressing a gathering of tribals in Barwani district on Thursday, chief minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan said, "I'm of the firm view that UCC should be implemented across the country."

"Time has come for implementation of the UCC and one wife norm for everyone. Why should there be two sets of legislations/laws in the country. In Madhya Pradesh, I'm forming a committee (to study and implement UCC) and one marriage norm for everyone," Chouhan said, while addressing the PESA Act new rules (implemented recently in MP) awareness event.

Interestingly, the stage of event from which the CM made the announcement, had among others, state's animal husbandry minister Prem Singh Patel, who officially has four wives, as declared by him in his poll nomination affidavit filed during 2018 assembly elections.

Many BJP-ruled states, including Uttarakhand, Gujarat, Himachal Pradesh, Assam and Karnataka, have either formed committees for implementation of UCC or have supported the idea to implement it.

The announcement suggests that the BJP is likely to make UCC a big issue ahead of 2024 Lok Sabha polls and MP elections due next year.

Recently when asked about several BJP-ruled state governments promising UCC, Congress leader Jairam Ramesh had accused the BJP of just raising the issue for political advantage ahead of elections.

61% polling in Gujarat 1st phase

Turnout in 89 constituencies seems on lower side as against '17 polls

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @A'bad

THE first phase of Gujarat Assembly polls for 89 constituencies out of the total 182 recorded a voter turnout of around 61%, which could be revised upwards. The turnout appears on the lower side in comparison with the 2017 polls when the turnout was 66.95% for these constituencies.

The 89 constituencies are spread across 19 districts with 14,382 polling stations in Kutch, Saurashtra and south Gujarat.

The highest voting percentage was reported from tribal-dominated Nizar seat in Tapi with turnout at 77.97%, followed by Dang district 64.84%. The lowest turnout was reported from Saurashtra's Kutiana constituency in Porbandar district at 48.30% followed by Bhavnagar district 51.34%, poll officials said.

The political fate of 788 candidates is sealed in the first phase of voting. Among prominent candidates contesting in the first phase are AAP chief ministerial candidate Isudan Gadhvi (Khambhalia seat in Devbhumi), AAP state unit chief Gopal Italia (from Katargam in Surat), Rivaba Jadeja (BJP) and BJP MLAs Harsh Sanghavi and Purnesh Modi, Lalit Kagathara, Lalit Vasoya, Rutvik Makwana.

BJP candidate from Vansda, Piyush Patel was allegedly attacked by unknown people on Thursday morning, police said. A case has been registered at the Vansda police station,

The opposition Congress has complained to the Election Commission that electronic voting machines (EVMs) did not work in at least 50 polling booths, mostly in the Saurashtra region.

State AAP chief Gopal Italia alleged that in his Katargam constituency, the voting process was too slow in spite of long queues outside polling booths.

The EC tweeted the picture of a 104-year-old voter, Ramjibhai, and said he voted at the polling station instead of opting for a postal ballot. It also tweeted a picture of a centenarian voter, Kamuben Patel, proudly showing her inked finger after casting her vote at a polling station in Umbergaon Assembly constituency in Valsad district.

The BJP has been in power in Gujarat for 27 years. The party is determined to stay in power for the sixth term. The Congress and the AAP are hoping for an electoral revival.

Modi: Cong never believed in Lord Ram

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @A'bad

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday responded to Congress leaders' sharp remarks by saying "there is a competition in the Congress on who can abuse Modi more."

In his speech at a rally in Kalol town in Panchmahal, the PM referred to Congress chief Mallikarjun Kharge's remark against him. "Kharge ji was sent to Gujarat and I was called Ravana by him on the land of Gujarat where Lord Ram's devotees live. But it is true that when it comes to Lord Ram, the Congress does not accept his existence. It is also true that the Congress was in pain due to the construction of a grand temple of Lord Ram in Ayodhya."

Modi said he was surprised that Congress leaders never expressed repentance, forget about an apology, after using such words for him.

He hit out at Congress leaders for calling him names, including the promise to show him his 'aukat'. "The Congress does not spare any chance to insult the pride of Gujarat."

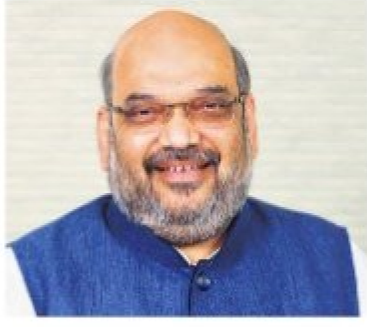
Political activities pick up in Valley

After Home Minister Amit Shah's October 25 rally in Baramulla in north Kashmir, political activities have picked up in the Valley ahead of the onset of harsh winter. After Shah's rally, two political parties – J&K Apni Party and PDP – have held major power shows in Srinagar. The Apni Party of influential businessman and former PDP leader Altaf Bukhari held a major rally at Sheri Kashmir cricket stadium in Srinagar on November 12. About 10,000 to 15,000 people attended the rally. It was the first major political rally in Srinagar after scrappingof J&K's special status and bifurcation of J&K state into two Union Territories by the Centre on August 5, 2019.



Utilize govt land for infra projects

The Lt Governor administration in Jammu and Kashmir has directed its departments to utilize the government land for construction of projects and undertaking infrastructural development works. The officials were directed to acquire land only if the government land is not available. "Land should ideally be acquired only in case of non-availability/non-feasibility of Government land for execution of the project," reads an official order. The government has also asked all departments to compile a list of officers who have authorized execution of works and projects without proper sanction.

CHALISA ROW

Court pulls up Rana couple for missing dates

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mumbai

A Maharashtra court on Thursday issued bailable warrants against MP Navneet Rana and her husband MLA Ravi Rana after they failed to appear during the hearing on the Hanuman Chalisa case.

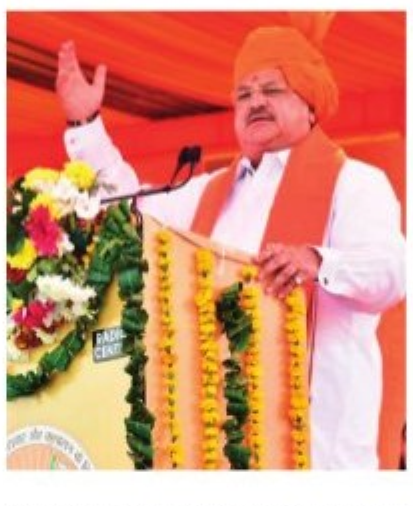
Independent Lok Sabha MP Naveet Rana from Amaravati and her husband independent MLA Ravi Rana were arrested from their Khar residence Mumbai in April of this year for allegedly trying to disturb religious peace and promoting religious enmity.

Rana duo insisted on reciting Hanuman Chalisa outside Uddhav Thackeray's home, Matoshree when he was chief minister of Maharashtra, to "remind Shiv Sena of Hindutva principles". They later cancelled the event but got arrested by police. They were released in May on a bond of ₹50,000 each after spending about two weeks in jail.

The couple was booked under the Indian Penal Code section 153 (A) and section 135 of the Mumbai Police Act (violation of prohibitory orders of police).

BJP's Jan Aakrosh Yatra ahead of Rahul's Bharat Jodo in Raj

RAJESH ASNANI @Jaipur



DAYS ahead of Bharat Jodo Yatra enters Rajasthan, the BJP kicked off Jan Aakrosh Yatra in Jaipur on Thursday, with JP Nadda launching a sharp attack on Rahul Gandhi and accusing the Ashok Gehlot-led Congress of failing to keep the party's poll promises.

The BJP's yatra is seen as a counter to Rahul's Bharat Jodo Yatra. Rajasthan is slated to go to polls in December next year.

Interestingly, former CM Vasundhara Raje, who had skipped many party activities, attended Thursday's event and targeted the Congress over the ongoing fight between Gehlot and Sachin Pilot.

"This Congress government is embroiled in the fight between the CM and the former deputy CM. Both leaders do not talk to each other. Officers and ministers are also fighting with each other," Raje said.

Rahul's yatra will enter Rajasthan on December 4 from Jhalrapatan in Jhalawar, the constituency of Raje.

The BJP will take out 'Jan Aakrosh Yatra' against the Gehlot government in all the 200 assembly constituencies from December 1-14.

"What happened to the promises made by Rahul Gandhi? When his yatra enters Rajasthan, ask him what promises he will fulfill. Congress doesn't know how to implement the schemes," Nadda said.

Nadda tried to convey unity message in the party and the Congress by bringing together senior leaders from different factions of the BJP, such as Raje, state president Satish Poonia, Union Minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat, Leader of Opposition Gulab Chand Kataria. Posters of Raje have also been put on the BJP's chariot.

UTTARAKHAND

3k schools to shut over poor student count

NARENDRA SETHI @Dehradun

UTTARAKHAND government has decided to immediately close all such schools that have fewer than 10 students in order to restore the standard of basic education in the state.

Director General of Education Bansidhar Tiwari, who confirmed the decision, said, "The education department has decided to temporarily close 3,000 schools in the state with less than 10 students. Schools with five students in hilly areas and 10 or less students in plains will be closed, and children from these schools will be sent to schools closest to excellence." However, he made it clear that schools are being temporarily closed until they can sufficient students. On the other hand, he said, "This year there have been an extra 65,000 students, and several previously closed schools have also reopened."

The ministry is set to improve the department's image after being at the bottom of the national level in the field of school education this year. Also, the "bhojanmatas" working in those schools will be accommodated in the same school where students are being sent.

Cong-ruled Raj, C'garh in deadlock over coal supply to thermal plants

EJAZ KAISER @Raipur

AMID the ongoing deadlock between Congress-ruled Rajasthan and Chhattisgarh over the steady coal supply, the Rajasthan Rajya Vidyut Utpadan Nigam Ltd (RRVUNL) has stated the situation in the state was turning precarious

It said Rajasthan had committed coal supplies from the allotted mines in Chhattisgarh. Thermal power stations with 4320 MW capacity were commissioned. However, the projects turned critical for Rajasthan due to "non-availability of required quantity and quality of coal supply."

Coal blocks in north Chhattisgarh's Hasdeo Arand region were awarded to RRVUNL. The region witnessed strong protests by the local villagers against the mining operations and the felling of trees in a rich forested terrain having coal reserves. In March this year, the Chhattisgarh government cleared the second phase of coal mining in Parsa East Kanta Basan (Hasdeo Arand region) following Rajasthan CM Ashok Gehlot's visit. He urged his counterpart Bhupesh Baghel to proceed on fast-track coal mining clearances to mitigate the power crisis.

Chhattisgarh allowed RRVUNL the second-phase of mining at Parsa coal block on 1,136 hectares. The first phase which is nearing completion has been going on since 2013. The Centre has already granted clearance to it. However a month ago even while the Chhattisgarh government asked the ministry of environment to reconsider forest clearance given to Parsa coal block citing resistance by the locals and law & order situation, the development work remains operational.

However, RRVUNL claimed that it has invested Rs 40,000 crore in the commissioning of the 4,320 MW of thermal power stations.

'Frontier Nagaland' state demand: 7 tribes boycott statehood celebration

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Guwahati

NAGALAND on Thursday marked its 60th statehood day with the celebration of Hornbill Festival but seven tribes from six districts boycotted the gala event in protest against the Centre's failure to create the "Frontier Nagaland" state.

W Manwang Anghaa, secretary of eastern Nagaland's largest tribal group Eastern Nagaland People's Organisation (ENPO), told this newspaper nobody from the region would participate in the ten-day festival which draws people from around the world. An 11-member ENPO delegation left for New Delhi on Thursday after being invited by the Home Ministry for a discussion on the demand. This is the fifth such meeting, coming after a gap of more than two years.

The ENPO has been for the past few years spearheading a "people's movement" for Frontier Nagaland state. They want the Centre to create the new state by slicing off the six districts of Kiphire, Longleng, Mon, Noklak, Shamator and Tuensang. The demand stems from eastern Nagaland's alleged backwardness.

Nagaland has 60 Assembly seats and 20 of them are in these six districts. The 20 seats are currently held by ruling parties Nationalist Democratic Progressive Party (16) and BJP (four).

The ENPO has already threatened to boycott the state elections, expected in February next year.

"We firmly stand by our resolution that the people of eastern Nagaland will boycott the elections if the Frontier Nagaland state is not created," the ENPO secretary said. "All political parties and legislators will abide by the resolution as it is a people's movement," said Konyak Union leader Hongnao Konyak. The union comes under the ENPO.

Palamu Tiger Reserve to shift road to curb man-animal conflict

MUKESH RANJAN @Ranchi

IN order to avoid man-animal conflict, officials at Palamu Tiger Reserve (PTR) have decided to shift Kaer-Labhar road passing through its core area to another location. Officials informed that these roads are used by both men and wild animals leading to regular killing of the animals after they come under motor vehicles and bikes.

According to PTR officials, as many as 15-20 wild animals are killed every year in road accidents on this route, three people were closely saved after wild tuskers attacked them in separate incidents last year leaving their vehicles badly damaged. Efforts are also being made to shift the railway line from Chhipaodohar to Hehegarha to make PTR disturbance free for the wild animals, they said.

"A part of state highway 9 from Kaer to Labhhar, which crosses through the core area of PTR, will be relocated connecting the 4 villages -- Matnag, Chhipadohar, Jurugar, Harinamar, which still remains unconnected through pucca roads. It will also help in minimizing the man-animal conflict on the road, which witnesses at least 15-20 incidents in which animals are killed in road accidents," said DFO (North), PTR, Kumar Ashish. Survey work has already been conducted by the road construction department, which is looking at every aspect of it like procedural shifting and feasibility, he added

The DFO further said that the approval was given by the state government a year back, but due to some unknown reasons, it could not be done.

"Being natural habitat of wild tuskers, at least 3 persons had a close shave as they came across a herd of elephants on Kaer - Labhhar Road, in which their two wheelers got badly damaged," said Ashutosh. Moreover, it will help make wild tuskers confined in their natural habitat as they move towards villages, if they feel any disturbance due to noise pollution created by moving vehicles, he added. The move is also considered in accordance with the guidelines issued by National Tiger Conservation Authority (NTCA), which recommends making tiger reserves free from any human interference.

VVIP SERVICE IN JAIL

POCSO accused forced to serve Jain: probe Panel

ASHISH SRIVASTAVA @New Delhi

Satyendra Jain

AT least five Tihar inmates, two of them accused in POCSO cases, were pressured by the Tihar administration to provide "special services" to jailed AAP minister Satyendra Jain, said an inquiry panel that is looking into allegations of VVIP treatment given to Jain in jail.

The committee underlined that a retinue of jail officials was involved in the service of Jain.

Tihar inmate Rinku, accused of raping a minor, allegedly gave a massage to Jain whose videos created a political storm a few days ago. "I have provided the massage to him (Jain) at the instructions of jail officials. Now I am being threatened. I have not even taken a drop of water from the cell of Satyendra Jain for giving the massage," the report said quoting his recorded confession.

After the video of Jain getting a massage in jail was circulated on social media, the AAP claimed he was actually receiving physiotherapy as part of treatment.

However, Rinku clarified that he never got any training in physiotherapy and that his main profession was to provide mare services for marriage functions.

"This massage was not voluntarily or out of love & affection, as claimed by the then Superintendent Jail but was in the nature of leisure for enjoying lavish lifestyle in jail by Satyendra Jain," the committee noted.

Meanwhile, another POCSO accused, Manish, was found to be involved in providing fruits and outside food to Jain. "Jail warden used to deposit money in my jail account card. By using my card, I used to purchase fruits from jail canteen for Satyendra Jain. He deposited money in my jail account card 3-4 times and each time he deposited ₹6,900... I did not provide services to Jain willingly," the report quoted Manish as saying.

India to resume work on 20 stalled projects: Taliban

KABUL

THE Taliban dispensation in Afghanistan has said that India will resume work in at least 20 stalled projects in several provinces across the war-torn country.

In June, India re-established its diplomatic presence in Kabul by deploying a "technical team" in its embassy in the Afghan capital. India withdrew its officials from the embassy after the Taliban seized power in August 2021, following concerns over their security. In August, Afghanistan's Foreign Ministry said India's diplomatic presence in the country would result in the completion of "unfinished projects" that New Delhi had initiated and the commencement of new ones.

On Tuesday, Afghanistan's Ministry of Urban Development and Housing (MUDH) said the Indian charge' d'affaires, Bharat Kumar, expressed interest in the improvement of relations and the resumption of stalled projects in the country, according to news portal Tolo News. Kumar made the remarks during a meeting with the Minister of Urban Development and Housing, Hamdullah Nomani, it said.

According to the MUDH, it is expected that India will resume work on at least 20 projects in several provinces of the country. "Projects they were implementing during the former government but were delayed due political changes or other issues — they are now interested in resuming these projects," Tolo News quoted Mohammad Kamal Afghan, a spokesman for the MUDH as saying.

Economists said the move will facilitate job opportunities and boost development in the country. "The resumption of these projects can also create job opportunities for the people and it can promote people's income and drive Afghanistan out of political isolation," Darya Khan Baheer, an economist was quoted as saying in the report. "The restart of these projects will decrease the level of poverty and unemployment," said Nazkamir Ziarmal, another economist. India has not recognised the new regime in Afghanistan and has been pitching for the formation of a truly inclusive government in Kabul, besides insisting that Afghan soil must not be used for any terrorist activities against any country. New Delhi has been pitching for providing unimpeded humanitarian aid to Afghanistan to address the unfolding humanitarian crisis in the country. PTI

China relaxes Covid curbs in more cities

Contacts of Covid positive cases will no longer be forced to go to quaratine centres

BEIJING

CHINA relaxed its stringent zero-Covid restrictions in several cities after public protests and stepped up security across the country on Thursday as it braced for next week's high-profile funeral of former president Jiang Zemin who died a day earlier.

Flexible measures were implemented across China to ensure people's livelihoods amid the cold front, the official media reported.

After protests against zero-covid lockdowns, China's top industrial and business hub Guangzhou lifted temporary restrictions in some regions and officially allowed qualified close contacts to be quarantined at home instead of in temporary shelters. Such announcements relaxing the Covid curbs were announced in Beijing, Shijiazhuang, Taiyuan besides several other cities, the official media reports said.

Beijing witnessed mixed lockdown covid policies. While some buildings went into lockdown on Thursday, all over the city people complained that many of the Covid testing centers have been closed following complaints of people getting infected while standing in long lines. Vice Premier Sun Chunlan, who headed the anti-covid fight for the past three years, has signalled a new chapter in the country's pandemic response with small, progressive refinements to restrictive measures, in a sign the zero-Covid policy may be gradually phased out.

In a meeting with experts from the National Health Commission on Wednesday, Sun also acknowledged that the Omicron variant is more transmissible but less deadly, according to state news agency Xinhua. It is the first time a senior official has acknowledged the change in the nature of the virus without the usual caveat that Omicron could still lead to more deaths in China because of its large population an argument that has previously been used to justify the country's strong Covid-19 controls.

Meanwhile, security has been beefed up in Beijing, Shanghai and several other cities which witnessed anti-zero covid measures rattling the government as it prepared for next Tuesday's funeral of former Chinese President Jiang. There is a sense of disquiet in Beijing over the weekend anti-zero covid protests in which slogans calling for President Xi Jinping to step down were raised coinciding with the death of Jiang. Agencies

Nepali Cong intensifies talks to form government

KATHMANDU

THE Nepali Congress, which has emerged as the single largest party in the parliamentary elections, on Thursday intensified consultations with other political parties in its bid to form the next government.

Senior Nepali Congress (NC) leader and former deputy prime minister Prakash Man Singh told PTI that the party has intensified consultations with various other political parties to form the next government.

The party will elect its Parliamentary Party leader after the results of all the seats are out and the seats to be allocated on the basis of the proportionate voting system is determined, he added.

Meanwhile, prime minister and NC president Sher Bahadur Deuba on Thursday met Janamat Party Chairman C K Raut at the PM's residence and discussed matters relating to forging cooperation in the days ahead, sources said.

Although the Janamat Party has won just one seat under direct election, the party will get one or two more seats in the Parliament under the proportionate voting method as it has crossed the threshold of being a national party.

NC Vice-president Purna Bahadur Khadka met CPN-Maoist Centre chairman Puspa Kamal Dahal 'Prachanda' at the latter's residence at Khumaltar. The two are learnt to have discussed issues pertaining to formation of government, continuing with the present alliances and power sharing, according to the sources.

The Nepali Congress has so far bagged 55 seats under direct election to the House of Representatives.

While the opposition CPN-UML has won 44 seats. So far election results of 162 seats have been declared. PTI

Families sue govt over cough syrup deaths

A dozen Indonesian families whose relatives died or were injured after consuming tainted cough syrups have sued the government and firms accused of supplying the products, according to a lawsuit. Indonesia has seen a spike in cases of acute kidney injury since August, with the deaths of at least 199 people, mostly children. The class action lawsuit targets the ministry of health, the country's food and drug agency and seven companies implicated in selling syrups containing excessive amounts of two compounds used in industrial products. Awan Puryadi, a legal representative of the victims' relatives, said they took action because the authorities failed to prevent the sale of harmful medicines. Families are seeking compensation of $127,049 for every person killed and $63,524 for every person injured, the lawyer said

Letter bombs sent to Spanish PM, US embassy after blast at Ukraine mission

MADRID

SPANISH police were investigating on Thursday a series of letter bombs sent to targets including the prime minister and the US embassy, similar to one which went off at the Ukrainian embassy, hurting a staff member.

The interior ministry revealed that an envelope with "pyrotechnic material" had arrived at Prime Minister Pedro Sanchez's official residence on November 24. It was destroyed in a controlled explosion.

Spain's High court meanwhile announced it had broadened an initial investigation over the Ukraine embassy letter bomb to cover the all the other incidents.

Both announcements came a day after the security officer at Ukraine's embassy in Madrid suffered a light injury to one hand while opening a letter bomb addressed to the Ukrainian ambassador, an incident that prompted Kyiv to boost security at its embassies worldwide. That letter, like the others discovered, arrived by regular mail. Later in the evening, a second "suspicious postal shipment" was intercepted at the headquarters of military equipment firm Instalaza in the northeastern city of Zaragoza, the interior ministry said.

Then on Thursday morning letter bombs arrived and at the defence ministry; and at an air base in Torrejon de Ardoz, just outside Madrid, from where weapons donated by Spain are sent to Ukraine.

Ukraine's ambassador to Spain, Serhii Pohoreltsev, appeared to blame Russia for the letter bomb at its embassy.

"We are well aware of the terrorist methods of the aggressor country," he said during an interview late Wednesday with Spanish public television. AFP

US lawmakers finally get access to Don's tax records

WASHINGTON

THE US Treasury Department said on Wednesday it complied with a court order to make former president Donald Trump's tax returns, which he has long fought to keep under wraps, available to a congressional committee.

The 76-year-old Trump, who recently announced he will seek the presidency again in 2024, refused to release his tax returns while in office — as presidents have done since the 1970s — and took to the courts to block a congressional request.

Earlier in November, however, the Supreme Court cleared the way for his returns to be handed over to the Ways and Means Committee of the Democratic-majority House of Representatives.

"Treasury has complied with last week's court decision," a department spokesperson told AFP. The department did not disclose whether the committee had accessed the documents, according to an official. Committee members did not immediately respond to requests for comment.

The committee has been seeking tax returns from Trump and business entities related to him for the period of 2015 to 2020. The Supreme Court decision came with just a few weeks remaining in the term of the current Congress, with Republican lawmakers due to take over the House in January after winning a slight majority in the November 8 elections. AFP

S Africa prez under pressure to resign over farm scandal

JOHANNESBURG

SOUTH African President Cyril Ramaphosa faced calls on Thursday to step down after a parliamentary panel's probe found he may have breached anti-corruption laws in connection with the alleged theft of a large amount of money from his Phala Phala game farm.

The calls follow allegations by the country's former head of intelligence, Arthur Fraser, that Ramaphosa tried to conceal the theft of a huge sum of cash stuffed into couches at his farm in 2020. Fraser accused the president of money laundering and violating foreign currency control laws.

In its report, the parliamentary panel raised questions about the source of the money and why it wasn't disclosed to the financial authorities.

Ramaphosa has denied any wrongdoing, insisting that the money was proceeds from the sale of animals at his farm. But opposition parties and Ramaphosa's detractors in the ruling African National Congress (ANC) party have called for him to step down.

The ANC's national executive committee, the party's highest decision-making body, is expected to meet to be briefed on the matter.

Lawmakers are expected to debate the report on Tuesday, and they will vote on whether further action should be taken, including whether to proceed with the impeachment proceedings.

"The president is giving consideration to the report and an announcement will be made in due course," Ramaphosa's office has said.

According to the parliamentary report, Ramaphosa claimed the stolen money amounted to $5,80,000, disputing the initial amount of $4 million that Fraser alleged was stolen.The main opposition party, the Democratic Alliance, is among those calling for Ramaphosa's impeachment. AP

US manufacturing activity contracts in November

Washington: The US manufacturing sector contracted in November for the first time since mid-2020 when the country struggled with the Covid pandemic, data showed on Thursday, as efforts to cool the economy bite. While manufacturing output held up despite previous logistics disruptions and shortages, new orders—along with exports and imports—are shrinking, data showed. The Institute for Supply Management's (ISM) manufacturing index dropped 1.2 points to 49% in November, lower than analysts expected and below the 50% threshold indicating growth

GST collection in Nov rises 11% YoY to ₹1.46 lakh cr

Average monthly GST revenue so far in FY23 at ₹1.48 lakh crore

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

MONTHLY GST revenues continue to impress as collections crossed ₹1.4 lakh crore for the ninth consecutive months.

The government in November collected ₹1.46 lakh crore in GST revenue, 11% higher than that of the same month a year ago.

Though November mop-up was 3.9% lower than the collection in October, analysts believe strong GST revenue signals robust economic performance of the country.

Of the ₹1,45,867 crore GST collection in November 2022, collection under Central GST was ₹25,681 crore, state GST was ₹32,651 crore, integrated GST was ₹77,103 crore and Cess was ₹10,433 crore. After regular IGST settlement, the total revenue of Centre and the states in November 2022 was ₹59,678 crore for CGST and ₹61,189 crore for the SGST. Imports continue to drive collections as ₹39,500 crore GST was collected from imports alone.

IGST and cess is levied on imports of goods and services. "During the month, revenues from import of goods were 20% higher and the revenues from domestic transactions (including import of services) are 8% higher than the revenues from these sources during the same month last year," a finance ministry statement said. So far this year, the average monthly GST collection has been ₹1.48 lakh crore in the first eight months of 2022-23 compared to the average monthly collection of ₹1.17 lakh crore in the same period last year.

The government is confident that the momentum in GST collection will continue. In an interaction with this newspaper, outgoing revenue secretary Tarun Bajaj has said the monthly collections will go up to ₹1.5 lakh and more. Saloni Roy, Partner, Deloitte India, said India has been clocking a healthy ₹1.5 lakh crore as monthly GST collections (though this month's collection has been slightly lower than what is now almost the norm).

"Healthy, regular and robust GST collections are a mirror to the economy's performance. So far India's story seems protected from the global economic trends and show that the domestic demand continues on a positive trajectory," said Roy

2W sales fall in Nov; PV sales flat

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

TWO-WHEELER (2W) sales witnessed a sharp decline in November 2022 when compared with the sales in the festive month of October 2022, indicating that the sector is yet to recover from the prolonged slowdown.

Top 2W maker Hero MotoCorp's total dispatches in November stood at 379,839 units in the domestic market, a sharp fall from 442,825 units dispatched in October 2022. Honda Motorcycle and Scooter India (HMSI) also reported a steep fall in monthly sales; dispatches fell from 488,924 units in October to 353,540 units in November.

For Bajaj Auto, domestic 2W sales came down to just 123,490 units in November 2022 from 206,131 units in October 2022. TVS Motor's domestic 2W sales stood at 191,730 units in November 2022 as against 275,934 units in October 2022.

Hit by distress in the rural economy and rising ownership cost, two-wheeler sales, baring few months, have been under tremendous pressure for about 4 years now. According to industry experts, the situation remains dynamic and there is no clarity when the demand would breach the pre-covid level. Even the fast growing electric 2W sales faced a slowdown in November 2022. E-2W sales stood at 76,162 units last month compared to 76,952 units in October, as per the VAHAN portal.

Passenger vehicle (PV) sales, on the back of high demand for SUVs and long waiting periods, remained stable last month. While India's largest carmaker Maruti Suzuki reported a dip in sales month-on-month, Hyundai and Tata Motor's managed to retain their growth.

MSIL's domestic PV sales stood at 132,395 units in November as against 140,337 units sold in October. While Hyundai's sales remained flat at 48,003 units, Tata Motor's month-on-month sales grew a little to 46,037 units last month from 45,423 units in October.

SUV Major Mahindra & Mahindra's (M&M) domestic PV sales came down to 30,392 units last month as against 32,298 units in October.

Urban unemployment rises to 8% in Nov: CMIE

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

THE country's unemployment rate increased to 8% in November, the highest in three months, as against 7.77% in the previous month, mainly due to a rise in the urban unemployment rate.

According to data from the Centre for Monitoring Indian Economy (CMIE), the urban unemployment rate rose to 8.96% in November from 7.21% in the previous month. The jobless rate in rural areas dropped to 7.55% from 8.04% in October.

Experts attribute the rise in the unemployment rate to multiple factors including macroeconomic environment.

"Companies are going slow, or in a more controlled manner, on the hiring front, due to the headwinds in the global markets. Another important aspect of this reduction in manpower is by start-ups that had contributed to a surge in hiring during the pandemic," said Sumit Sarabhai, Business Head - Emerging Vertical, TeamLease Services.

These companies had hired because their consumers were utilising their services extensively during lockdowns. But the current back to office or normal scenario is having a strong recoil effect on their business, resulting in manpower reduction as the Covid-led consumer behaviour wanes, Sarabhai said.

He added that the unemployment number is expected to return to the normal range soon.

In November alone, many companies including Meta, Twitter, Cisco, HP and Salesforce announced their layoffs. Apart from start-ups, many firms have announced a pause in hiring due to the economic slowdown. Earlier, India's jobless rate rose to a one-year-high in August 2022 at 8.28% from 6.83% in the previous month, primarily due to a significant increase in urban unemployment at 9.57%.

Govt slashes windfall gains tax on exports of crude oil, diesel

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

Govt first imposed windfall tax in July

Govt first imposed SAED on export of oil on July 1, 2022, and since then it was reviewed every fortnight. It imposed export duties of ₹6 per litre each on petrol and ATF and ₹13 a litre on diesel. A ₹23,250 per tonne windfall profit tax on domestic crude production was levied

THE government on Thursday slashed windfall tax or the special additional excise duty (SAED) on locally produced oil and also reduced levy on diesel exports.

According to the gazette notification by finance ministry, SAED on locally produced oil was reduced to ₹4,900 per tonne from existing ₹10,200 per tonne and ₹8 per litre on export of diesel. The changes will be effective from Friday (December 2, 2022). The special additional excise duty on petrol continues to remain nil and that on aviation fuel ATF at ₹5 a litre.

The government first imposed SAED on export of oil on July 1, 2022, and since then it was reviewed every fortnight. It imposed export duties of ₹6 per litre each on petrol and aviation turbine fuel (ATF) and ₹13 a litre on diesel.

A ₹23,250 per tonne windfall profit tax on domestic crude production was also levied. The government reviewed it on July 20, August 2, August 19, September 1, September 16, October 1, October 16, and November 1. The reason for the windfall tax was to charge the oil companies for the large profit it had been earning through sale of refined crude in the International market.

Since then crude prices have softened in the international market.

Brent Crude Future, the benchmark of crude price in the international market, is trading at $85.34 per barrel on December 1, 2022 (7 PM IST), down from almost $100 per barrel. Meanwhile, oil marketing companies (OMCs) reduced ATF price by 2.3% to ₹1,17,587.64 per kl in Delhi.

This reduction is going to give relief to the airlines for whom fuel makes for nearly 40% of the operating cost.

Experts believe the cut in fuel prices is due to softening of international oil prices. However, there is no change in petrol and diesel price in the domestic market, it remained unchanged for the past eight months.

DIPAM floats EoI for Nagarnar steel plant

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

THE Department of Investment and Public Asset Management (DIPAM) has invited expression of interest (EoI) for NMDC's Nagarnar Steel Plant (NSL) to sell the government's 50.79% stake, it said Wednesday.

Eligible bidders can submit EoI either independently or in consortium with a maximum limit of four. The last date for submission of EoI is January 27 and the last date for query is December 29. Currently, the government's stake in the steel plant is nearly 60.79%. It will retain about 10% stake.

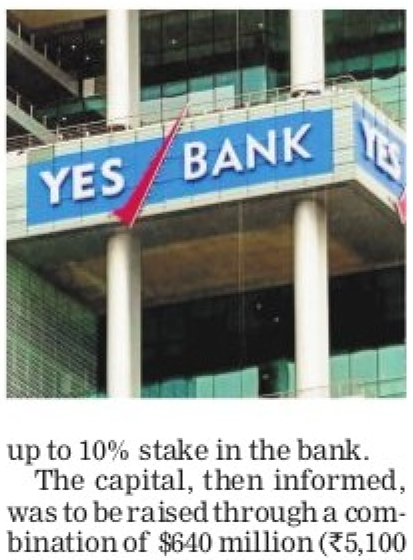
The plant has a capacity of 3 million tonne per annum (mtpa) and it is yet to be ommissioned completely. According to the document, it is scheduled for completion by March 2023.

Currently, Nagarnar Iron and Steel PLant (NISP) is in the process of being demerged from NMDC into NSL. Post demerger, it will have minor shareholding of NMDC and its shares will be listed on the stock exchanges. The demerger has been approved by the Ministry of Corporate Affairs in October this year.

The Nagarnar plant is located in the Bastar district of Chattisgarh. The Union Cabinet in October 2020 had given its nod for the demerger of the steel plant in Chattisgarh from NMDC and the sale of the Centre's "entire" stake in the unit to a strategic buyer.

Carlyle, Advent get nod to own 9.9% each in Yes Bank

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @
New Delhi



PRIVATE equity firms - The Carlyle Group and Advent- have received the Reserve Bank of India's green signal to own up to 9.99% each in Yes Bank, the private sector lender said on Thursday.

"We hereby inform you that vide separate letters date November 30, 2022, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has issued a conditional approval to each Investor with respect to the proposed acquisition by each of them of up to 9.99% of paid-up share capital of the bank through subscription to equity shares and share warrants of the bank and the investors are evaluating the conditions," YES Bank said in an exchange filing.

"The investors and the bank will engage with the RBI to seek an early resolution of the conditions to procure the final approval on this matter," the bank added.

It was in July this year when Yes Bank had informed that it is raising equity capital of $1.1 billion (₹8,900 crore) from funds affiliated with two global PE investors - Carlyle and Advent- with each investor acquiring up to 10% stake in the bank.

The capital, then informed, was to be raised through a combination of $640 million (₹5,100 crore) in equity shares and $475 million (₹3,800 crore) through equity share warrants.

As per the bank, the capital raising will further bolster the capital adequacy and aid the bank's medium-to-long term sustainable growth objectives. Yes Bank had to be bailed out by fellow lenders in a RBI-led scheme in 2020, after alleged malfeasance by its founders led to a huge chunk of loans turning sour. The SBI-led scheme had to be implemented after the bank failed to raise capital.

The investment by the PE funds will be one of the biggest in the banking sector in recent times.

FIS lays off employees in India due to internal restructuring

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Bengaluru

MANY employees of US financial services technology company FIS on Thursday received termination letters from the company saying that their role with FIS has become redundant.

"FIS has decided to terminate your employment with effect from December 30, 2022, on account of redundancy," the letter says. This comes at a time when the company is planning to lay-off many employees globally, according to various reports. It is said that Stephanie Ferris, who will become the CEO of the company starting January 2023, wants to cut costs. Of around 55,000 employees, India employs about one-third of the workforce. Though the exact number of layoffs in India is not yet known, it is said that about 400 employees from Pune have received termination letters.

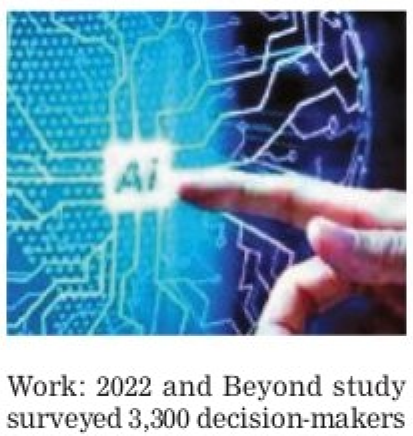
The internal mail that employees received says they will receive a severance compensation calculated at the rate of one month of their base salary for every completed year of continuous service with FIS.

"It has been decided to allow you paid time-off up to the separation date. This implies that although you will continue to be on the role of FIS till the separation date, but you would no longer be expected to report to your duty," the letter adds.

In a statement, FIS said, "During the FIS Q3, 2022, earnings call, we introduced our plan to address current macro-economic challenges. Rightsizing our portfolio and our workforce have always been an important part of our growth strategy to serve our clients and meet market demand. " Meanwhile, Nascent Information Technology Employees Senate (NITES) strongly condemned the unethical layoffs started by FIS. "The company has violated provisions of the Industrial Disputes Act and is aiming to restore investor confidence by reducing headcount arbitrarily," said Harpreet Singh Saluja, President, NITES.

Artificial intelligence, machine learning will strengthen firms' IT security: Report

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru



OF late, organisations have been showing great interest in IT security, as ManageEngine, enterprise IT management division of Zoho Corporation, study shows 91% of respondents agree that artificial intelligence (AI) and machine learning (ML) will play a significant role in strengthening their organisation's IT security framework in the near future.

The company has been receiving many enquiries about cyber security, said Shailesh Davey, Co-Founder and Vice President of Engineering at Zoho. IT at Work: 2022 and Beyond study surveyed 3,300 decision-makers across IT and other key business functions in organisations across 18 countries, including India. According to the study, 98% of all business decision makers have invested in AI and ML and are doing so for more than one use case on average. Automation is the most common use case with 64%, followed by cyberattack prevention at 59%.

Of the surveyed ITDMs (IT decision-makers), 85% agree that organisations' existing security landscapes need to change to ensure protection against cyberattacks.

"Our primary aim with this study was to shed light on the current state of ITDMs and the need for IT democratisation and empowerment for a well-knit organisation today," said Davey.

TN govt to bring policies to support web3 ecosystem

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

THE Tamil Nadu government is trying to come up with new policies and revise the existing policies based on the suggestions from the industry to nurture web3 ecosystem, state Information technology minister Mano Thangaraj has said.

The state has great talents and hence has a potential in emerging technologies, he said. The minister was speaking at the Tech Next 2022 - Future of Tech Web 3.0 conference organised by Confederation of Indian Industries (CII) here.

"We have initiated interactions with the information technology (IT) sector and academia and could bring change in the sector," he said. Mano Thangaraj further said various efforts are taken by the department, including iTNT Hub. It aims to connect start-ups working in emerging and deep tech areas with the academic network of more than 570+ engineering colleges, engage with researchers and industry partners to spur innovation.

Iran team gets tepid welcome home

BAGHDAD: Iran's national soccer team received a subdued welcome home after its World Cup defeat against the United States, a match played against the backdrop of ongoing anti-government protests in Iran. One Iranian man was shot dead celebrating the American victory. The players returned from Qatar late Wednesday, a day after their 1-0 loss. Anti-government protesters, considering the team a symbol of Iran's clerical rulers, had celebrated the loss in some Iranian cities with fireworks and cheers. One man was shot dead by Iranian security forces in northwest Iran for honking his car horn in support of the US victory, the Oslo-based rights monitor Iran Human Rights reported on Thursday.

White exits WC for personal reasons

DOHA: England defender Ben White has returned home from the World Cup for personal reasons, the Football Association said. The FA didn't provide a reason for White's departure. The Arsenal center back isn't expected to join back up with England coach Gareth Southgate's squad in Qatar after leaving the team's training base in Al Wakrah. "We ask that the player's privacy is respected at this moment in time," the FA said in a statement. The 25-year-old White didn't play in England's first two group matches against Iran and the US, and was absent for the team's Group B finale against Wales. England face Senegal in the round of 16 on Sunday.

Belgium coach Martinez to leave job

DOHA: Belgium coach Roberto Martinez said he was leaving his job on Thursday after his side were eliminated from the World Cup. The 49-year-old had been in charge since 2016 and his contract was due to run out after the tournament. "That was my last game with the national team, I can't carry on," Martinez said. "It's the time for me to accept that this is the last game." Martinez led Belgium to a third-place finish at the 2018 World Cup in Russia and to the Euro 2020 quarterfinals last year. But his ageing side could not replicate that form in Qatar, crashing out after scoring just one goal in three games. The Spaniard said he was always planning to leave after the World Cup. "That was the end, whatever would happen, whether we were world champions, whether we went out in the group stage," he said.

Martino out as Mexico coach after exit

AL KHOR: After the debacle of missing the round of 16 for the first time in 44 years, Mexico said that Argentine coach Gerardo "Tata" Martino will not return for the next tournament. Martino finished his contract after the 2-1 win over Saudi Arabia. He said that he was aware a contract extension with the Mexican soccer federation was unlikely. "With a failure like this it is impossible for him to continue," said Jaime Ordiales, Mexico's director of national teams. "I know he is a hard worker, I've seen him every day, but we work for the national team and the best thing to do right now is to look elsewhere." Ordiales said the federation will speak to Martino and analyze the situation in the team before making any decisions on a new coach.

MORE THAN JUST A MATCH

In what is likely to be a winner-takes-all clash, Switzerland face Serbia. A look...

SERBIA'S FORWARD LINE

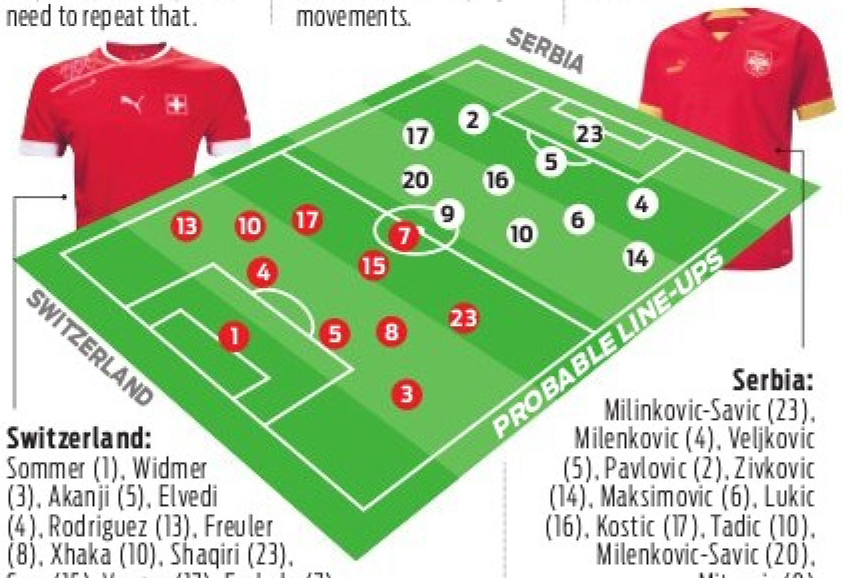
After a limp performance against Brazil, Serbia arrived at the party with a blitz against Cameroon before they pegged back. It showed their forward line can combine to devastating effect in quick time. They will need to repeat that.

SWISS WILL REMAIN COMPACT

The Swiss football team are like a watch, so accurate, precision and to the point. It's how they play the game. They will do the same against Serbia, try to pick their movements, hold the line before identifying movements.

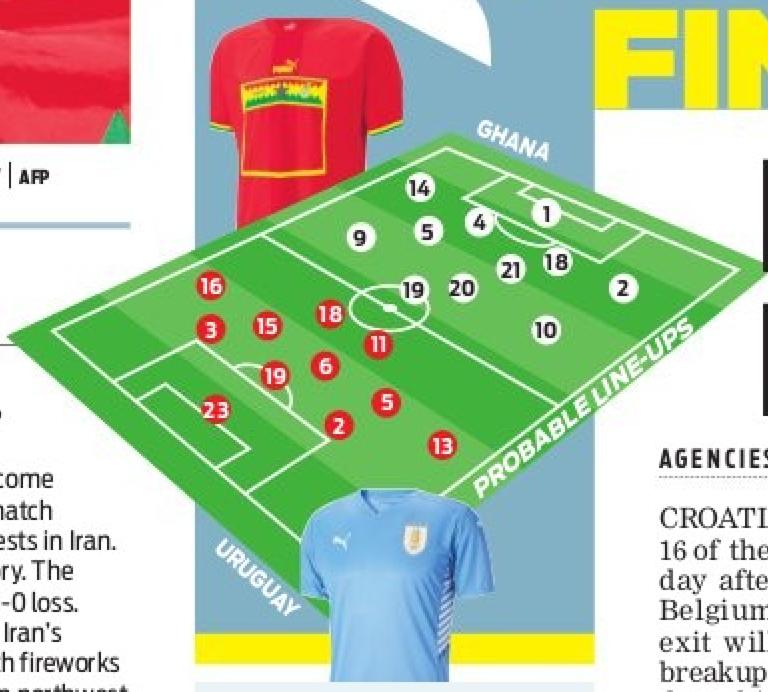
SCENARIO IN GROUP G

Brazil are already through. Cameroon have to beat them to stand any chance. Switzerland will go through even with a draw as long as Cameroon don't beat Brazil.



Switzerland: Sommer (1), Widmer (3), Akanji (5), Elvedi (4), Rodriguez (13), Freuler (8), Xhaka (10), Shaqiri (23), Sow (15), Vargas (17), Embolo (7)

Serbia: Milinkovic-Savic (23), Milenkovic (4), Veljkovic (5), Pavlovic (2), Zivkovic (14), Maksimovic (6), Lukic (16), Kostic (17), Tadic (10), Milenkovic-Savic (20), Mitrovic (9)



Ghana: Ati-Zigi (1), Lamptey (2), Amartey (18), Salisu (4), Mensah (14), Partey (5), Samed (21), Ayew (10), Kudus (20), Ayew (9), Williams (19)

Uruguay: Rochet (23), Gimenez (2), Coates (19), Godin (3), Varela (13), Vecino (5), Bentancur (6), Valverde (15), Olivera (16), Gomez (18), Nunez (11)

MATCH POINT

The quintessential revenge match as Ghana face Uruguay knowing a win will take them through. A look...

TIME TO BURY GHOSTS

The Luis Suarez handball controversy isn't a major talking point because Ghana got a penalty for that. Suarez has subsequently been blamed for Ghana not scoring the penalty. But Ghana will use that 'injustice' to drive them in their quest to qualify for the knock-out stages.

KUDUS MAN TO WATCH

Out of all the young players to have impressed, Ajax attacker Mohammad Kudus is in the top of the pile. The way he has moved on the turf, receiving the ball, moving past markers has been a highpoint for the Africans. He will look to do the same again.

URUGUAY, WHERE ART THOU?

The South Americans came into the World Cup possessing a good strike force and an impressive triumvirate of Rodrigo Bentancur, Matias Vecino and Fede Velverde. Yet, they are yet to score. Friday will be a good time to turn up.

SCENARIO IN GROUP H

Portugal are already through but need a point to confirm top spot. Ghana can go through with a draw provided South Korea don't win by a two-goal margin.

BELGIUM BLUES, MOROCCO MUSIC

AGENCIES @Qatar

CROATIA advanced to the last 16 of the World Cup on Thursday after a 0-0 draw against Belgium, whose group-stage exit will likely usher in the breakup of its talented but underachieving generation of players. The eastern European nation has reached at least the semifinals on each of the two times it has reached the knockout stage.

Belgium were eliminated after scoring one goal in three games and failed to live up to its status as the second-ranked team and one of the tournament favourites.

Morocco advanced to the last 16 for just the second time after clinging on for a 2-1 win over Canada. The Moroccans' only other trip past the group stage came in 1986. Morocco finished on top of Group F. Hakim Ziyech scored for Morocco in the fourth minute after a bad error by Canada goalkeeper Milan Borjan left the winger to shoot the ball into an empty goal. Youssef En-Nesyri added a second in the 23rd.

It looked then like Morocco would overrun the Canadians. But Nayef Aguerd's own-goal just before halftime made it 2-1 and lifted Canada enough for them to put pressure on Morocco in search of an equalizing goal for most of the second half. Canada came agonizingly close when a header from captain Atiba Hutchinson, who came on as a second-half substitute, bounced off the crossbar and onto the goal-line.

Belgium's Romelu Lukaku (R) reacts during the match against Croatia on Thursday. The substitute came closest to scoring for the Red Devils, hitting the post once | AP

A draw would also have been enough for Morocco to advance. Needing a win to be sure of advancing, Belgium produced their best performance of the World Cup and wasted two clear chances that fell to Romelu Lukaku.

Argentina march on after Polish show

Express GOAL
SIDDHANTH ANEY @ DOHA

IT was all happening on Wednesday night in Qatar. For the last time at a men's football World Cup the best part of a 32-team format played out in all its glorious uncertainty. After a stumbling, laboured start to the tournament that began with a shock 2–1 defeat to Saudi Arabia, Lionel Messi and Argentina found the connect between their feet, minds and hearts and completely outplayed a Poland team who's role here at the World Cup is a tough one to put a finger on.

Getting into the tournament because Russia were thrown as a consequence of Vladimir Putin's military operation in Ukraine (they did play Sweden a week later in a one-legged knock-out), Poland have done just about enough to not warrant excessive criticism. At Stadium 974, Messi celebrated with the Argentine fans.

Having topped the group with a performance that would satisfy even the harsher critics, hundreds of millions of fans across the world, from South America to South Asia, can continue to dream about 2022 finally being the one they have waited for. Group C, as with several others in this tournament, was wide open going into the final round of fixtures. Argentina took matters into their own hands, sealing qualification with a second win. But the scenario for the others was a little less certain. Mexico played Saudi Arabia simultaneously in front of the largest collection of travelling fans in Qatar.

Back in 974, the Poland goalkeeper and former Arsenal man, Wojciech Szczesny, turned away shot after shot in the first half, including a Messi penalty that wasn't at all badly taken. Then, almost instantly after half-time break, they broke through. Nahuel Molina put in a perfectly teed-up grounded cross from the right and midfielder Alexis Mac Allister met it first-time with his right foot, placing the ball between two Poland defenders and into the far corner of Szczesny's goal.

GROUP C

Team	M	W	D	L	Pts
Argentina	3	2	0	1	6(Q)
Poland	3	1	1	1	4(Q)
Mexico	3	1	1	1	4
Saudi Arabia	3	1	0	2	3

From thereon, any lingering doubt about Argentina's progress was obliterated. In the 67th minute, Julian Alvarez doubled the lead and the small contingent of Polish fans in the stadium now had to wait for events to conclude 30-minutes drive away at Lusail Stadium before they knew whether it was a defeat that would send them home, or turn into a celebration anyway.

While Messi celebrated with Mac Allister, Alvarez and Angel Di Maria, three of Argentina's most effective attacking threats on the night, the Polish players huddled around a single-cell phone near the middle of the pitch, waiting...Mexico were leading Saudi by a two-goal margin. If the scoreline held, the central Americans would be knocked out in the group stage for the first time in seven World Cups based on Poland's better disciplinary record. If Mexico scored another, they would advance on superior goal difference. There have been plenty of goals and plenty of injury time, in Qatar. And there would be one in Lusail, too. Saleem Al Dawsari, now a legend in his home country, became a Polish hero. His goal not just added pride to a team — from whom little was expected but much was seen. It also made the yellow card tally irrelevant. "Sometimes defeats are bittersweet, or sweet and bitter," said Poland Coach Czeslaw Michniewicz in a very delayed post-match press conference. It could have been more bitter than sweet, though. Argentina almost took care of Poland's fate too, after securing their own. Lautaro Martinez, who has looked good this tournament but lacked a bit of luck, had a shot narrowly wide late in the game. Almost simultaneously, in the 87th minute, Uriel Antuna found the back of the net for Mexico only to be ruled offside. Then, deep into injury time, Nicolas Tagliafico nearly added a third for Argentina but a scrambling Jakub Kiwior managed to head it away. It might not have mattered in the end, but at the time, that play kept Poland in the World Cup. And that is how it all ended. Mexico bowing out early for the first time since 1978, and Poland making it through for the first time since 1986. Not that there is much to look forward to. On the other side are a rampaging France side who played a B-team in a 1–0 loss to Tunisia earlier in the day. Kylian Mbappe and company will be looking forward to the prospect.

Meanwhile for Argentina, the dogged Australia will provide the first challenge in the knockouts. Ending the group with six points after a 1–0 win over Denmark, Australia keep the Asian continent in the competition. Also, with Argentina finding cohesion and rhythm finally, it is hard to imagine the Socceroos being too much of an obstacle on the way to the quarterfinals. "We have a spectacular group and people who deliver," Messi said after the game. "Because it's a short tournament and so many games in a row it's good that we have everyone going."

If the dream is to come true, they will need to keep that momentum very much alive.

Why Szczesny was always likely to save Messi's penalty

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

WHENEVER Wojciech Szczesny does something on a football field, that meme of a distressed-looking Ben Affleck smoking a cigarette does the rounds. There is a connection. It goes back to when Szczesny was the first choice at Arsenal.

The Polish international had made two big errors leading to a 0-2 loss against Southampton on New Year's Day in 2015. After the match, he lit up in the showers only to be caught by the club for his indiscretion. He was fined and dropped. Soon, he was ushered out of the door, first to Roma and then to Juventus. Szczesny, who was signed by Arsenal as a teen, had talent but sometimes he let himself down. While he had his ups and downs at Arsenal — ridiculous close-range reflex saves often went hand in hand with some iffy decision-making (expected because goalkeepers, unlike outfield players, tend to mature later) — he always had a penchant for saving penalties. In fact, the second penalty he faced on English soil was a save. While he was on loan at Brentford in the 2009-10 season, he saved from Matt Harrold.

After returning to Arsenal next season, he was something of a penalty-saving machine. He saved five penalties, including four out of 17 penalties in the Premier League (five if you include Wayne Rooney hitting the dead-ball over the crossbar).

During the course of his time with the Londoners, he also developed his all-round game, winning the Golden Glove in the process (award given to goalkeeper with most number of clean sheets in a season) in the 2013-14 season. But that cigarette offense meant manager Arsene Wenger had reached the end of his tether with the promising custodian. He saved a few more penalties but he has rewritten several penalty-saving records since his move to Juventus in 2018. He has conceded 23 times while facing a penalty but has prevented a goal 11 times. A penalty has often been described as a lottery but recent studies have shown it's possible to have a specific preparation for them.

Before taking a look at what Szczesny did to become good at saving penalties, here are a few numbers that put his save percentages in some perspective and why he had a good chance to save the Messi penalty.

An Expected Goal (xG) from the spot is 0.78 (in layman's terms, the expectation of a goal to be scored from the spot is 78 out of 100 times). In other words, a goalkeeper either saves or sees the penalty go wide 22 times. Szczesny, though, defies these numbers. Since moving to Juventus, his corresponding numbers stand at 0.68 ie he saves or sees the penalty go wide 32 out of 100 times. While the sample size is smaller, the corresponding numbers for Poland stand at a penalty save or a miss 60 out of 100 times.

This is when you take Messi's own record from the spot into consideration. He's bang average from 12 yards. From the spot, he has scored 103 times but has missed 31 times for an xG of roughly 0.77 suggesting that he's not a bad penalty-taker but neither a very dependable penalty-taker.

He used to be above average but the misses have come after he changed his technique from a goalkeeper-dependent one to a goalkeeper-independent one.

There are other theories. One is that Messi, when under pressure, prefers to shoot to the goalkeeper's left as he did on Wednesday (against Saudi Arabia, he rolled the ball to the keeper's right). A few of his high-profile misses or saves have come when he has gone to the keeper's left. He went to the keeper's left in the Copa America final in 2016 only to blaze the ball over the bar. He went in the same direction in a Champions League semifinal against Petr Cech's Chelsea. The ball hit the crossbar. He also went to David Ospina's left against Columbia in the semifinal of last year's Copa America. He scored. But the point is it makes him vulnerable because there is an established pattern here.

GHANA, URUGUAY MEET AGAIN

Suarez's handball in 2010 WC quarters had denied African nation a place in history as first team from continent to reach semis

GERALD IMRAY @ Doha

Luis Suarez (R) & his teammates attend a training session on Thursday | AFP

GHANA and Uruguay meet at the World Cup on Friday in a repeat of one of the tournament's most contentious games, and Luis Suarez still isn't apologizing for his central role in the controversy 12 years ago.

Uruguay striker Suarez's deliberate handball on the goal-line at the end of extra time in the quarterfinals of the 2010 World Cup in South Africa denied Ghana a certain goal and a place in history as the first African team to reach the semis. Suarez was sent off for the handball but celebrated wildly on the sidelines when Asamoah Gyan hit the penalty off the crossbar. Uruguay won the ensuing penalty shootout.

To make it worse, Suarez boasted after the 2010 game: "Truth is, it was worth it."

On Thursday, he remained unrepentant.

"I don't apologize because I take the handball and the red card but the Ghana player missed the penalty. It's not my fault because I didn't miss the penalty," Suarez said.

Ghana can now go some way toward settling the score. By beating Uruguay in their final Group H match, Ghana would advance to the round of 16, while knocking Uruguay out of the tournament.

Though the match in Al Wakrah has been circled as one to watch ever since the World Cup draw was made, Ghana coach Otto Addo tried his best to cast it as a "normal game" despite 2010 remaining a raw and painful memory for many Ghanaians, who are demanding revenge for the handball. "For me, it's not a big topic," Addo said, adding he wouldn't criticize one of his own players if they did the same as Suarez. "I would expect every player to do all he can to make sure his team goes through. Even sacrificing himself with a red card."

"What happened in 2010 is very sad but we can't change it. We want to look forward and we want to win this game," he said. "No matter how."

Ghana, which squeezed out a thrilling 3-2 win over South Korea in its last game, must win again in Al Wakrah to be certain of going past the group stage for the first time since 2010. A draw could also be enough depending on the result of South Korea vs Portugal. Captain Andre Ayew is the only Ghana player in Qatar who was on the 2010 squad.

Uruguay has a handful, including the 35-year-old Suarez, who is playing what's likely his farewell World Cup before winding down a career that saw him celebrated as one of the best forwards in the world at one point. He won the Copa America with Uruguay and Spanish league titles and a Champions League trophy with Barcelona.

Suarez also carved out a reputation as one of the game's most controversial characters and has been punished three times for biting opponents, including a four-month ban for biting Italy defender Giorgio Chiellini on the shoulder at the 2014 World Cup in Brazil.

Uruguay must now beat Ghana and hope South Korea don't beat Portugal to extend its stay and Suarez's international career for at least one more game. AP

NUGGETS & TRIVIA

Between 1966 and 1978, Helmut Schon coached the German team 25 times. He holds the record for most matches as coach in the World Cup.

1966 edition is the only World Cup England have ever won. Coincidentally, they were also the hosts of the World Cup. They won against Germany with a score of 4-2.

JUNE 23, 1994

On 23rd June 1994, Italy's Gianluca Pagliuca was the first goalkeeper to be ever sent off in a World Cup match. While playing against Norway, he handled the ball outside the penalty box. He was sent off the field after 21 minutes.

Eyes on Dhawan as full-strength India meet B'desh in 3-ODI series

GOMESH S @Chennai

WHEN Shikhar Dhawan and Rohit Sharma opened the batting for India in the 2013 Champions Trophy in England, they laid the foundation of the beginning of a special partnership. Dhawan was the aggressor to set the tone as Rohit played the long innings, scoring big hundreds. Since then, they have scored more runs than any other pair in the ODIs — 5127 in 115 innings, including 18 100-run stands. It is this partnership, along with Virat Kohli at No 3, that was the lifeline of India's success in the format for the better part of a decade.

However, it is not the 2010s anymore. And Dhawan, while seem fitter than many of his teammates on the field, is 36. Rohit is 35 and Kohli is 34. With Rohit being the captain and Kohli back in form, the focus has turned to Dhawan as India look to form a strong team for the home World Cup next year.

Make no mistake, since the pandemic broke, Dhawan has led commendably with several youngsters in the second-string side. However, it seems like his reflexes are slowing down and it's being reflected in his performance. Since the start of 2022, Dhawan has accumulated 670 runs at an average of 39.41. But the worrying sign is the strike rate of 75.11. What's worse is that it drops down to 67.98 in the powerplay. While the numbers cast concern over his ability to be the aggressor he once used to be, the other important thing is the way he has struggled against high-end pace. That said, not all is over yet for the southpaw. He will be batting with Rohit in Bangladesh and how the series, which begins Sunday, goes will be crucial for both him and the team.

Former India cricketer and selector Saba Karim feels so as well. "It'll be a very crucial series for Shikhar Dhawan," said Karim in a select media interaction facilitated by Sony Sports Network. "I hope that without the extra responsibility of captaincy, he will come good. One should also not forget that in ICC tournaments, Dhawan has been a great performer for India. That is one reason I believe the team management still backs him to come good. With Rohit alongside him, I hope he does well," he added. India tour of Bangladesh, Live on Sony Sports Network

Malhotra and Paranjape to join Sulakshana in CAC

ENS @Chennai

THE BCCI on Thursday announced that former India cricketers Ashok Malhotra and Jatin Paranjape would join Sulakshana Naik in the Cricket Advisory Commitee (CAC) that will be taking care of the appointment of the men's selection committee. While Malhotra came in for Madan Lal, who left the office having crossed 70, and Paranjape will replace RP Singh, who is now a talent scout with Mumbai Indians.

Earlier this month, the BCCI had advertised for all five positions in the senior men's selection committee after India's exit in the semifinal of the recently concluded T20 World Cup in Australia.

Judges said they were "not called upon to give a decision" on the core issues in the case since the positions of Bolivia and Chile had now converged over the past six years.

Musk expects Neuralink will start human trials in 6 months

Musk speaks at the SATELLITE Conference and Exhibition in 2020 | AP

SAN FRANCISCO: Tech billionaire Elon Musk said on Wednesday one of his companies would in six months be able to implant a device into a human brain that would allow communication with a computer.

The interface, produced by Musk's start-up Neuralink, would allow the user to communicate directly with computers through their thoughts, he said. "We've submitted I think most of our paperwork to the FDA (US Food and Drug Administration) and we think probably in about six months we should be able to have our first Neuralink in a human," he said in a company presentation. "We've been working hard to be ready for our first human (implant), and obviously we want to be extremely careful and certain that it will work well before putting a device in a human," he said.

Musk—who bought Twitter last month and also owns SpaceX, Tesla and several other companies—has been known to make ambitious predictions about his companies, with several not becoming reality.

According to New York Times, "These are incremental advances," Daniel Yoshor, a neurosurgeon and neuroscientist at the Perelman School of Medicine at the University of Pennsylvania who has worked with similar devices, said after watching the presentation. "The hardware is impressive but does not represent a dramatic advance in restoring or enhancing brain function."

In July 2019, he vowed that Neuralink would be able to perform its first tests on humans in 2020. The prototypes, which are the size of a coin, have been implanted in the skulls of monkeys. At the Neuralink presentation, the company showed several monkeys "playing" basic video games or moving a cursor on a screen through their Neuralink implant.

Musk said the company would try to use the implants to restore vision and mobility in humans. "We would initially enable someone who has almost no ability to operate their muscles... and enable them to operate their phone faster than someone who has working hands," he said.

"As miraculous as it may sound, we are confident that it is possible to restore full body functionality to someone who has a severed spinal cord," he said. Beyond the potential to treat neurological diseases, Musk's ultimate goal is to ensure that humans are not intellectually overwhelmed by artificial intelligence, he said.

Other companies working on similar systems include Synchron, which announced in July that it had implanted the first brain-machine interface in the United States.

LET THEM EAT BREAD: THE ORIGINS OF THE BAGUETTE

It is as much a part of French culture as the Eiffel Tower or Edith Piaf but the origins of the humble baguette, which UNESCO added to its List of Intangible Cultural Heritage, remain a mystery. Here are some of the more popular theories

NAPOLEON'S BREAD OF WAR

The oldest tale has the baguette being kneaded by bakers in Napoleon's army. Less bulky than a traditional loaf, the long slim shape of the baguette made it faster to bake in brick ovens hastily erected on the battlefield

THE VIENNESE CONNECTION

Another theory has the baguette starting out in a Viennese bakery in central Paris in the late 1830s. Artillery officer and entrepreneur August Zang brought Austria's culinary savoir-faire to Paris in the form of the oval-shaped bread that were standard in his country at the time

BREAKING BREAD

Another theory has the baguette being born at the same time as the metro for the 1900 Paris Exposition. People from across France came to work on the underground and fights would often break out on site between labourers

1919

EARLY RISING

In 1919, a new law aimed to improve the lives of bakers by banning them from working from 10 pm to 4 am. The reform gave them less time to prepare the traditional sourdough loaf for the morning, marked the widespread transition to the yeast-based 'flute', was out of the oven in less than half an hour

INJECTING HOPE

UK show lifts the lid on Covid vaccine race

HEALTH

LONDON: From a scientist's laptop to the syringe used to inject the UK's first Covid vaccine dose, an exhibition that opened on Wednesday in London recounts the quest to produce a coronavirus jab through objects.

The "Injecting Hope" show at the Science Museum "explores the worldwide effort to develop vaccines at pandemic speed", looking at key moments in their design, trial, manufacture and rollout, says deputy director Julia Knights.

Items on display include artworks, notes taken by UK vaccine chief Kate Bingham during early meetings to decide the country's strategy, and the syringe used to administer its first dose. Machines used to manufacture the vaccine are also on show along with personal artefacts of those at the heart of the battle to beat the virus.

They include the laptop and mug that Teresa Lambe, co-developer of the Oxford University/AstraZeneca vaccine, relied upon during a weekend of intense work to calculate what its chemical composition should be. "Once they had an understanding of the genetic make-up of this new virus, she essentially sat at home, on her laptop, in her pyjamas, drinking lots of cups of tea, designing a vaccine," explained exhibition curator Stewart Emmens.

"We have a laptop, we have a mug and we have a T-shirt on display here. It's nice, in amongst all the science, to really drive it home that there are people behind this, just normal people doing their jobs."

The museum began collecting objects related to Covid in February 2020 as "objects associated with epidemics and pandemics are largely missing from historic collections", said Emmens. The first section features news footage of lockdowns and images of deserted capital cities, empty shelves, at-home schoolchildren and food delivery apps, taking visitors back to the pre-vaccine world.
